RAIN PROVES OF BENEFIT
TO ENTIRE
SOUTHLAND

Long Drought Ends With Heavy Downpour; Records Of Previous Years

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—The "rain of dollars," which covered Southern California generally throughout the night will continue for another twenty-four hours, the United States weather bureau announced today. Indications were a heavy downpour for a short duration some time during the day.

A total fall in Los Angeles up to 5 a. m. today was approximately .40 of an inch, the weather bureau reported. Monterey, Azusa and the Claremont territory received almost an inch for the first twelve hours of the rain.

Proves of Value
Financially, the rain was one of the most valuable this section has received. The rain ended one of the longest droughts Southern California has known. Besides aiding the farmers the rain also extinguished brush fires at Ojai, which seriously threatened properties of the Pan-American Oil company, on the El Roblar ranch properties.

BY H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.
The rainfall total for the present storm is .58 inches, bringing the level for the season to 2.27 inches, reports H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway, who with Mrs. Bartlett has been keeping tabs on Pluvius since 1909, when they moved to Glendale.

Last year at this time, according to their records, 6.21 inches of rain had fallen, out of a total of 12.23 inches that bathed Glendale during the 1922-23 season. If the city would equal that record this year, 9.96 inches must still fall. While it is extremely likely that this will happen, Mr. Bartlett points out that "if we did no more than equal last year's downpour from now on, we would still have coming to us 6.02 inches."

Past Facts, Figures
The average seasonal precipitation for Glendale, during the fifteen years the Bartletts have been keeping their records, is 18 inches. Figuring from this angle, Glendale can expect 15.73 inches more before the rains are over, which is good news to farmers and home-owners alike, as the laws and flowers of the latter are equally as parched as the fruit and vegetable lands of the former.

The heaviest season's downpour during all those fifteen years came in 1913-14, following light years of 12.86 and 14.53, and totaled 23.49 inches. Inasmuch (Continued on Page 7)

Potato Growers Confer
on Early Quality Crop

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—Potato growers from virtually every section of California gathered here this week to discuss with department heads of the state department of agriculture ways and means of securing a larger and better quality early potato crop for marketing in the northwest-ern states.

The conference was called by G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture, who declared that unless the quality of the California potato is improved that Idaho will soon supplant this state in the early potato field.

Hecke urged the growers to co-operate with his department in furthering production of certified seed potatoes.

PILGRIMS OFFER
LENINE TRIBUTE

Thousands Journey From All Parts of Russia and Mourn at Tomb

MOSCOW, Jan. 28.—Today was a day of national mourning in Russia for Nicolai Lenin, late head of the soviet government, whose body was entombed here yesterday. Services were held by local soviets in towns and cities throughout the republic.

The funeral in Moscow was the most impressive and most spectacular in the existence of this historic city. Half a million mourners attended, standing for hours in weather thirty degrees below zero.

Physicians reported that more than 1,000 were overcome by cold and physical emotion.

Pilgrims Pay Tribute
Pilgrims are arriving from all parts of Russia, passing slowly with bowed heads throughout the day before the tomb.

Throughout the night, an honorary guard of stalwart cavalrymen, their uniforms thick with frost, paced slowly back and forth before the tomb. Powerful searchlights from the Kremlin played over the scene.

Bonfires burned in the streets all over the city. The authorities were hard pressed to find accommodations for the thousands of pilgrims and some had to sleep in the snow around the bonfires.

Liquor Worth Fortune Stolen by Bandits
HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 28.—A gang of between twenty and thirty bandits early today loaded two automobile trucks with whiskey at the warehouse of the Hammond Distilling Company and sped away. Develop New Forage
For P. I. Army Horses

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—A new forage ration, which is composed of native grain products of the Philippine Islands, has been developed by a board of officers, of which Colonel William G. Turner, new veterinary officer of the Ninth Corps Area, was president, after a long series of experiments and is now being used by some of the organizations in the Philippines, partly solving the difficulty of obtaining an adequate supply of forage there. These experiments have shown that the new forage ration is practical for the army animals, and it is probable that it will be permanently adopted.

Woman Testifies in Divorce Suit Minister Is Deft With His Lips

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Mrs. Charlotte Leland pictured her pastor, the Rev. Dr. Carl D. Case, as a kisser, no less skilled than the sleek Latin heroes of the films, when she testified this afternoon in her husband's suit for divorce.

The clergyman with whom she contends she shared "four or five times" kissed her on one occasion for five minutes, the witness said. So deft was the clergyman with his pursed lips, she testified, that the carress blinded her and brought no shock.

Not Made Angry
"Did it make you angry?" asked Frederick Brown, "friend of the court," who is trying to prove the minister's contention that Mrs. Leland is unbalanced with a complex for confession. "No," answered the witness. "Why not?" Brown insisted. "I was blinded."

"How were you blinded?" "He came at me so absolutely gradually, there was no shock and I just seemed to feel he thought he was doing right. I didn't feel any the less love for my husband."

"In Guise of Cat"
From the point where she told how "he came at me so absolutely gradually," Mrs. Leland's story painted the clergyman in the guise of a cat creeping nearer to the rosin.

He kept a tryst with her in her husband's home, she said, and "left the door open a tiny crack so he could see if anyone was coming."

Mother, Father and Eleven Children Among Victims Of Tragic Blast

CUMBERLAND, R. I., Jan. 28.—Fifteen persons met death in a terrific gas and dynamite explosion that early today demolished a tenement house owned by the Manville mills. An entire family—mother, father and eleven children—was wiped out by the blast. A boarder died with them.

It was learned from neighbors that Adelard Hamel, who was killed with his family, had 200 pounds of dynamite in his home. Immediately after gas from a leaking pipe exploded in the Conway tenement, the dynamite, according to investigators, fell to the cellar. The detonation that followed tore the building apart.

When not employed in the Manville mills, Hamel worked as a wood chopper. He is said to have used the dynamite for blasting stumps.

Michael Conway, in whose home the explosion occurred, died in the ruins.

Buildings were rocked and windows shattered within a radius of nearly two miles.

The blast came when an oil lamp was lighted in the Conway tenement. An effort had previously been made to detect a leak in a gas pipe.

The victims were Adelard Hamel, his wife Marie, their 11 children, Antonie 21; Arthur 20; O'Neill 17; Rose 15; Yvonne 14; Normandia 12; Jirard 7; Farland 10; Richard 8; Armandie 6, and Lucienne 4; Appauline Bancuz, 27, a boarder in the Hamel home and Michael Choway.

When the blast tore the building apart Conway fell into the cellar, where he was found beneath the wreckage. Conway was given an axe by rescuers who were unable to reach him, but he was too weak to use it.

CHRISTIAN'S APPOINTMENT BLOCKED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The senate insurgents, led by Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, today blocked confirmation of the nomination of George B. Christian, Jr., secretary of the late President Harding, as a federal trade commissioner at $10,000 a year. The insurgents announced they would fight Christian's appointment on the ground he is unfitted for the post. Postponement of consideration for at least two weeks was forced by La Follette today in a meeting of the senate commerce committee.

What is now a Senate investigation may develop into one of the most sensational trials in Washington in years as a result of disclosures made in the probe of the leasing of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve by A. B. Fall, then secretary of the interior, to Harry F. Sinclair and associates. Senator Caraway of Arkansas is dominating the senate probe of the affair.

Coolidge Asks $100,000 to Secure Attorneys to Press Prosecution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The House late this afternoon passed a resolution authorizing an appropriation of $100,000, as asked by President Coolidge for the employment of special counsel to investigate alleged fraud in connection with the leasing of government oil lands to private interests.

The only dissenting vote was cast by Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas. The resolution was immediately conveyed to the senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Amid a setting as dramatic as has been witnessed at the capitol in years, the senate plunged this afternoon into tumultuous consideration of the Teapot Dome "mess."

Great maps of Teapot Dome and the Elk Hills oil reserve in California festooned the walls of the chamber as Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, laid his resolution before the senate, cancelling the leases and directing the president to inaugurate court action to protect the government's right independently of Attorney-General Daugherty and the department of justice.

The House naval affairs committee today called off its investigation of the leasing of the naval reserve oil lands to Doheny and Sinclair, pending the completion of a similar inquiry by the Senate. Further hearings of the Senate investigation into the recognition of soviet Russia, were indefinitely postponed today because of the Teapot Dome inquiry.

Attacks Coolidge
President Coolidge was strongly condemned on the floor of the House this afternoon by Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader, for his mid-night statement Sunday, in which Mr. Coolidge announced his intention of appointing both Republican and Democratic counsel to prosecute the Teapot Dome scandal.

"That was not a proper utterance of a politician," declared Garrett, "and I challenge the president to give the country the name of any Democrats involved in the leases."

"The offer submitted to the senate committee by Attorney McNab is my act, it has my approval and is binding upon me."

Galleries Crowded
The senate galleries were jammed long before noon, the convening hour. Senators themselves arrived early and when the chamber was called to order the chamber was full. Several senators who were out of the city hurried back upon the order of Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip.

Walsh started the verbal fireworks by reading from letters and documents designed to show that the late President Harding and President Coolidge knew of the negotiations leading to the leasing of reserve lands and that the whole situation had been discussed in cabinet meetings.

He read these documents to repudiate a newspaper article charging that Fall had not consulted the cabinet. The article declared Mr. Coolidge had no connection with the oil scandal because he knew nothing of the lease negotiations.

"Degree of Doubt"
In a letter on June 7, 1921, to President Harding, Fall declared the question of leasing navy oil lands and the validity of the leases had been discussed several times in cabinet.

"We have it from Fall himself that the question had been discussed in cabinet," Walsh said, "although I realize we must take anything Fall has said, or might say, with some degree of doubt." Walsh pointed out it was the custom of President Coolidge to attend cabinet meetings while he was vice-president.

He also read a letter by President Harding "approving the reserve land policy determined upon by the secretary of the interior (Continued on Page 7)

Social Events

Betrothal Party
The many friends of Miss Phoebe Jane Snell were pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon when her engagement to Cloyse McCarroll was announced at a very charming affair given by her mother, Mrs. Mary Snell and sisters, the Misses Tirzah and Sara
Faye Snell at their home, 116
East Euclid street.

As time is nearing St. Valentine's Day, the guests were all given material and asked to make valentines and some very clever ones were made.

At the close of a pleasant social afternoon the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. William Snell, served dainty refreshments. The announcement of the engagement was made by presenting each guest with a St. Valentine napkin, in the corner of which were two pink hearts with the names of Miss Snell and Mr. McCarroll. A definite date for the wedding has not yet been set.

Chiropractic
"Saves the Pieces"
Chiropractic has made its marvelous record in salvaging broken health from the ranks of otherwise hopeless humanity whose condition through years of suffering and experimentation naturally developed into one of chronicity.

We ask you in all fairness, with such a record, what cannot Chiropractic do in the acute cases of acute cases of acute cases?
Your spine is a chart where all abnormalities are unfailingly registered. It matters not what name you give your condition.
It is due to insufficient nerve supply to that organ or area involved. We do not treat symptoms but we do correct the cause and Nature finishes the work. For example, fever caused by the retention of poisons in the system is quickly reduced under our adjustments. Now, what has the Chiropractor done? He simply releases the proper amount of nerve power necessary to effect proper elimination, with the result that the poisons are thrown off and recovery is natural.

LA CRESCENTA

COLE SPEAKS AT FATHERS' MEETING

Program Staged by Parents At La Crescenta Wins Generous Praise

Fathers' night was a triumphant success for father-in-law, the community was much surprised to find father so capable. In putting on such an interesting program. Mrs. C. W. Angier, president of the Parent-Teacher association, had arranged the program for the evening, which was as follows:

Business meeting; singing of "America" and Salute to the Flag, led by Mrs. A. W. Hopkins of the Community Sing; French horn solo, Ward Van Duesen; piano solos, T. O. Potts; reading, A. Swain; selection by quartet, composed of C. Craig, Eccleston, Rhinehart and Rapson; talk by Rev. C. Cole of Glendale. The Salute to the Flag by all present was given to the glorious Stars and Stripes which hung from the arch to the stage over the curtains, which, with huge bowls of the glowing yellow acacia, formed the decorations for the auditorium.

Mr. Van Duesen, who is a member of the Glendale Elks' band, delighted the audience with his rendition of the Aria from the "Bohemian Girl," while Mr. Potts astonished the parents present with his easy handling of the piano. Mr. Potts gave variations of several rather heavy pieces and his performance was eagerly applauded. Mr. Swain, of Sparr Heights, tickled the humor of the throng with his readings, giving a rather surprising skit as his encore.

The quartet, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Angier at the piano, showed themselves thoroughly conversant with their work, all having splendid voices in excellent condition.

Rev. Cole's Address
The main attraction of the evening was the very clever Glendale, Rev. C. A. Cole. Dr. Cole has spoken here on three different occasions and can always be sure of a hearty welcome.

His address, entitled "Putting Bumps on California Babies' Heads," was short, sharp and to the point, full of interest for every intelligent parent who cares to think. Indeed, it may be said Dr. Cole gave his audience several meaty subjects to take home for thought, things too deep to be passed on and over at a moment's notice. In passing Dr. Cole stated that there are 25,000,000 pupils under the school system of today and that any boy aimed directly or otherwise at the school system was indirectly a blow at the government of the greatest republic on earth. Surely this is a subject for much thought, and time spent on this question can bring but one answer—that is, to train the children of today in respect for all things, particularly deep respect and reverence for "Old Glory" and all it stands for.

After Dr. Cole's speech delicious home-made cakes and coffee were served, those acting as co-hostesses with Mrs. Angier being Mesdames Rhinehart, Van Duesen, Findlay, Craig and Swain. All voted Father's night a success and the first water and made Father quite happy with the spoken appreciation of the evening's entertainment.

Daddy Carpenter is still holding his own and though the sick room report is that he is very weak, the sixth senior laid out a chance for him. Prayers have been said for him in the local churches.

Attendance Increases
The school attendance has so greatly increased since the opening of school the board has added two new teachers to the staff; one will be put in each of the schools. The room designed for a play has to be taken over for a classroom and the contract has been let to finish off one of the school bungalows to be used as the manual arts department.

The sloyd materials have arrived and C.W. Angier and his classes are delighted to have their tools at last. The kitchen in the La Crescenta school has been enlarged, a new floor laid and new tables and glass plates will be installed to accommodate the young cooks. New curtains for the auditorium stage have been ordered, the funds to pay for them being raised by the pupils themselves and the Woman's club has also given a donation toward them. The curtains are expected to be hung by the time the graduation exercises take place in February.

The Parent-Teacher association are to give a play, a one-act skit, entitled "Si Slocum's Country Store"—this, it is expected, will be shown on the first of March.

Arthur Swain of Sparr Heights will have the male lead as Si, while Mrs. Mary B. Darrow will take the opposite lead as his sister, Tilly. The full cast will be announced later. Rehearsals will begin tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jergen Hansen of East Piedmont avenue are entertaining at their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Harham of Fort Wayne, Ind. The visitors have been taken to all prominent points of interest, such as San Diego, Tia Juana, Laguna and Santa Barbara, with its old world air and mission, where the visitors were personally conducted over the grounds and buildings by a resident father. Mr. and Mrs. Harham will visit the many local beaches and towns before returning East.

The Murdock family of Community street are welcoming little Miss Grace Margaret, who arrived the other day. The family are delighted with the young miss,

Elder R. W. Parmele Replies To 'End of World Leaflets' Dropped on City From Sky

An aeroplane last Friday flew over Glendale, dropping leaflets announcing the close of probation and the coming of the Lord to take place on February 6, 1924, and the same date in 1925, respectively. This suggested to Elder R. W. Parmele, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, a subject for his discourse in his church on the corner of Isabel and California avenue in his service Saturday morning. He took for his text Rom. 13:11 to 14. At the outset of his remarks, he asked the congregation to reserve their decision as to the climax until it should be reached. He said in part:

"In many of the events of human history in the past, the Lord has been very definite and accurate in announcing dates. For instance He announced the destruction of the world by water, and told the antediluvian world through Noah that this event would take place in 120 years. He revealed to Abraham the period of bondage of the children of Israel, and the length of time they would sojourn in Egypt, and the scriptures tell us that they came out of Egypt on 'What same day.' For their rebellion at the report of the faithful spies, the Lord told Israel that they would wander in the wilderness one year for every day that they spent in searching out the land, 'even forty years.' He told Jeremiah of the Babylonian captivity, and said that Jerusalem and Judah would lie waste for seventy years. In Daniel 9:2, that in the first year of Darius, Daniel understood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the Lord came by Jeremiah the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem. And recognizing that those years were almost accomplished, Daniel began his supplications for their deliverance, which petition was granted, and Israel was shortly thereafter delivered."

Another Prophecy
"In Daniel 8:14 there is another time prophecy, which is explained in the 9th chapter from verses 24 to 27. The events to take place during this period were the coming of the Messiah, his baptism, his crucifixion, being cut off; and the termination of the time of the Jewish nation as God's specially chosen people, and then it carries us down to the year 1844, for the antitypical cleansing of the sanctuary, which relates to an event in the mediatorial work of Christ in the heavenly sanctuary, as our great High Priest, as we learn from Hebrews 8 and 9. It is not necessary that I should dwell upon this matter, for I am persuaded that this prophecy is familiar to you all."

"But now, having been brought down thus far in human history, do we go any further? Are there other definite dates to which we may look? Seventh-day Adventists have been persistently accused by their enemies as being 'time setters,' but nothing could be further from the truth. Seventh-day Adventists never have, and in the nature of their belief never could set time for the close of probation, nor the end of the world. When the Apostles asked, 'Wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel?' by which they really meant, (though they may not have understood it themselves), 'Wilt thou at this time set up this everlasting reign?' The Master replied, 'It is not for you to know the times and the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power.' Acts 1:6, 7."

Do Not Set Time
"Seventh-day Adventists believe these words, and while we are commanded to know when the time of the setting up of the kingdom is to be, we are not to set it."

Notice, from now on, until after the Parent-Teacher association play is given, the library will be opened Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 instead of Tuesday. Mrs. G. Evans is entertaining as her house guest, Mrs. Goldson of Lansing, Mich. Mrs. Goldson is delighted with our country, particularly our glorious sunshine.

Services at St. Luke's
Mr. Noble of Pasadena, assisted by Mr. Warren of Los Angeles, was at the church to give the services for the church. St. Luke of the Mountains. Mr. Noble has been absent for two Sundays on account of illness, and his congregation were glad to welcome him back. Though still far from well, Mr. Noble preached a splendid sermon, taking as his text the beautiful words of St. Matthew—"Come unto me all ye who are weary and heavy laden and I will refresh you and give you rest."

The congregation of this little church is growing slowly, but surely, and it is felt that when the building of the real church is once begun the congregation will grow rapidly.

The Woman's Service League and the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met in the church parlors, Friday, with Mrs. Val. Findlay as hostess. Much business was discussed, principally that of raising money for the church building fund. The ladies were able to turn over $90 to the fund as the receipts from the concert given by the Jubilee Swane Singers. A committee on ways and means was formed, composed of Mrs. L. Potter, chairman; Mrs. Parke and Mrs. Findlay. About 13 ladies were present, papers on the British Missions being read, after which tea and cake was served.

A new switch spur has been laid just west of Los Angeles avenue on the Glendale & Montrose railroad line, and it is with much pleasure the residents of this community are looking forward to the new service. Los Angeles. Many new families are moving to this section in anticipation of the better car service, which brings the city nearer to our gates—as it were.

HIGHEST WISDOM IS SAVING SOULS

Rasmus Tells Three Greatest Achievements Possible To Human Race

"The Highest Wisdom" was the topic of Dr. Henry I. Rasmus at the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning. The text was Proverbs 11:34. "He that winneth souls is wise." "In every age," said Dr. Rasmus, "it has ever been the eternal quest of man to see, to hear, to know. It is the normal attitude of the mind to seek and to know, to be inspired by the heroic ideal."

"But, alas, too often is mankind misled and seeks the heroic in wars and bloodshed. Someday historians will reverse the order and no longer destroyers, but the saviors of mankind, will be the heroes of history. To the question, what is the highest wisdom, comes the answer 'acquiring of wealth.' Unfortunately that is the ideal that we implant in our children only to find that riches are useless unless well used."

"The next answer to the question, 'What is the highest wisdom?' is 'the genius of human government.' Every form has been tried, down to the present time, no government has value only as good comes to the people."

Destiny of the Soul
"The third answer to the question is to get knowledge, to know itself, to delve into nature's secrets, but after man has accumulated through years of toil and industry he comes to the same conclusion as Solomon. It is all vanity, only as it ministers to man's good. After all other efforts fail this truth remains unscathed. 'He that winneth souls is wise.' To be interested in character and the destiny of the soul."

Faith Brings Power
"It was faith in God that gave Moses power over his followers. The Jews were nearly ready to revolt against their leader several times. They were without water for days in the wilderness; then they were without food and starving. And now the Hebrews were confirmed in their belief in the true and living God. The Jews today religiously observe the Passover in remembrance of the manifestations of God's goodness to their race, and conviction steadily grew upon the children of Israel that God did lead them in their distress and led them out of their bondage to the Egyptians."

"The Bible class will not hold a session next Sunday morning, and will join with the entire school in taking part in the opening of the 'Kingdom Campaign' services, which are to commence February 3 and continue for one month in this church under the leadership of the Kerr brothers, noted evangelists and Gospel singers."

ESTATES ARE LARGE
Largest estates number 711 and covering 1,125,000 acres are still owned by the Prussian government, it is said, and the rental yearly is held to be about 1,302,000,000 marks. At the present value of the mark the return is comparatively of little value.

Winning of Children
"The third great achievement is the winning of a child. It is not enough to properly clothe and feed them. They have their struggles and temptations. What we do for them now largely determines what they will do for us later, when they become the men and women who control affairs of church and state. This, then, is the most heroic thing in life, to save men, women and children. We have our great musicians, great artists, great astronomers, great explorers, all great. But he who winneth souls is greater than all. And this shall be our recompense. 'They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever.'"

HEBREW'S EXODUS IS CLASS THEME

Meaning of Israelites' Flight From Egypt Explained By Rev. Hoskyn

"Significance of the Exodus" was the subject considered by the Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church Sunday morning, and their teacher, Rev. Edward Hoskyn, drew from him Bible story of the deliverance of the children of Israel out of the hands of Pharaoh some lessons applicable to the every-day life of Christian people at the present time. Selected sentences from the interpretation of the subject follow:

"Moses, herding the flocks of his father-in-law in the wilderness, for forty years, had become a changed man. While associated with the king as adviser and friend, he had been of a warlike disposition, but his calling as a shepherd had given him a chance to commune with God, and had greatly strengthened his faith and humility. And when God spoke to him from the burning bush, and called him to lead his chosen people out of their bondage, Moses felt himself unable and unworthy to undertake the task. God now made Himself known to Moses as Jehovah, saying, 'By the name of God, I might have known to the children of Israel, but now they shall know Me as Jehovah.' And when Moses still declined to accept the calling as leader, pleading that he was 'slow of speech' and not able to present their cause to the king, God told him that he should be mighty both in words and in deeds, and so it proved to be."

Club Women Hostesses
Los Angeles happens to be the place in which the biennial will meet, but the city is merely the center from which all California club women will extend welcome and in which they will provide entertainment. The General Federation never accepts invitations except from state federations and, therefore, the 70,000 women of the California federation are joint hostesses.

The delegates to the biennial are coming west not as tourists but for the purpose of holding a ten days' conference on the comprehensive work of the General Federation. The program will include subjects of paramount importance to women throughout the world, and this means that they are of supreme moment to all humanity. Among the subjects to be discussed are "Peace," "International Relations," "Applied Education," "Child Welfare" and "American Citizenship." All the departments of club work will contribute from the riches of their experiences and many distinguished speakers will be heard. Past biennials have proved how far-reaching is the effect of the deliberations of club women, but this year the focussing of this tremendous power has a special significance. The people of our country are awake to many important issues, and to the gravity of international conditions. Foreign women will be among those seated in the convention, which will be epoch-making, if not epoch-making.

Fifty Cents Per Capita
The privilege of having a part in making possible the success of the biennial plan will be appreciated by every loyal club member in the state. The per capita contribution of 50 cents has been accepted as a wise and easy method of meeting expenses. Contributions are now pouring into the treasury of the biennial board. The spirit revealed by even the most remote clubs is encouraging, for it is evident that such a club membership may know that she will not be able to enjoy the ten red-letter

WOMEN WILL PAY CONVENTION COST

Expense of Federation Meet Assured in Advance by Club Assessments

When the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs meets in Los Angeles June 3 to 13 it will have the distinction of being financially independent.

While men's conventions in all parts of the country have listened to the friendly lures of chambers of commerce and other civic bodies, or gratefully have accepted entertainment funds, the California Local Biennial Board has been quietly working out its plan to defray all its own expenses. In a year that will be famous for national and international assemblies, one of the greatest organizations, representing a membership of 2,800,000 women, will demonstrate its ability to meet all obligations without outside aid of any sort.

Such a financial policy for a convention is a long step forward and the biennial club women have attained. The biennial of 1924 will set a new standard. California will entertain thousands of women visitors for ten days in June and, the hostesses state, will have the pleasant consciousness that its federation has been able to extend a spontaneous hospitality which has no commercial aspect.

OPENS MILL AND BAKE SHOP HERE

E. H. Wood to Specialize on Variety of Foodstuffs in Local Plant

E. H. Wood has opened the Criterion Mill and Bakery at 724 East Colorado street, and by producing a line of foodstuffs considerably different from that of the usual baking establishment, expects to reach immediate success. Mr. Wood has spent much of his life in the milling business, which he learned as a boy in Pennsylvania. He spent several years installing flour mills, and for the past three years has been conducting a large bakery in a public market in Los Angeles.

The manufacture of whole wheat flour from hard northern wheat, selling it with directions for its use, will be one of Mr. Wood's specialties, and another will be the milling and sale of old time corn meal, with everything that is in the corn left in the meal.

The bakery will sell 100 per cent whole wheat bread, genuine home made white loaf potato bread, all kinds of natural cereals and similar edibles.

Color of the flowers of hydrangeas can be changed by growing them in different soils, it is claimed.

days herself, she is, nevertheless, glad to give toward the fund that insures entertainment for others. Though there has not been a dollar asked from any one not in the club world, it is a matter of pride that this biennial shall excel all previous conventions. Even in cases where clubs are building and where every cent is coveted for the structure that is to be a club home, members have cheerfully voted the required quota. The co-operative plan by which all may have an equal part in the big enterprise is proving satisfactory. All that is necessary is the understanding that the biennial belongs to the whole of California and the response is immediate.

In order that all financial matters may be facilitated, clubs have been urged not to desist in transmitting their quotas. Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, chairman of finance of the local biennial board, is now one of the busiest women in Los Angeles, but she desires to speed up collections, so that the working fund may be safe in the bank before the disbursements begin.

the date for the return of the Lord as February 6, 1925.

Adventist Position
The Seventh-day Adventist denomination, as regards human knowledge of a definite date for the return of the world's Redeemer, take their stand firmly and unequivocally upon the following words of Jesus, placing positive limitations upon human knowledge relative to this event:

"But of that day and hour knoweth no man, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only." Matt. 24:36.

It is altogether a different thing to believe in the early return of the world's Redeemer and to set a definite date for His coming. Another statement from the Savior's own lips emphasizes the fact that the actual day of His second appearing is not a matter of human knowledge. This statement reads as follows:

"Therefore be ye also ready; for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh." Matt. 24:44.

The Seventh-day Adventist denomination, as the name implies, while believing that the second Advent of the world's Redeemer is near, repudiates all time-setting pertaining to the date of His return. Moreover, they are emphatic in their belief that there are certain Bible prophecies still to be fulfilled before the end of the gospel age. Among these is the evangelization of the world by the proclamation of the everlasting gospel. Matt. 24:14; Rev. 14:6.

Makes Great Effort
Acting upon this belief, the Adventist denomination is making supreme effort to add to its hundreds of mission stations in the great world-wide field, and thus co-operate with every heaven-appointed agency until "every nation, kindred, tongue and people" shall have heard the opportunity to hear the good news of salvation.

Nothing short of this is a consistent view, according to the Bible, and according to the character of God in desiring the salvation of every human being to prepare the world for the close of human probation, to be followed quickly by the return of the Lord. (Rev. 22:11.)

Every enlightened mind, unless unbalanced by fanaticism, knows that the world cannot be evangelized by February 6, 1924, as declared by a certain Los Angeles matron, concerning whom a recent published announcement implied that she is the recognized prophetess of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination.

G. W. REASER,
Field secretary of the Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Will Halt Operation Of Two Mixed Trains

The railroad commission has authorized Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad company to discontinue operation of its mixed trains Nos. 41 and 42 between Los Angeles and Glendale, such discontinuance to be made coincidentally with the establishment of taxicabs and baggage transfer service for main line passengers to or from the Los Angeles station of applicant when such passengers originate at or are destined to the city of Glendale.

'JIM CROW' CARS

"Jim Crow" cars—cars used for colored people where they are not allowed to ride in regular railway vehicles with whites—are provided by law in fourteen states of the union, but none of these states provide "equal accommodations" for colored people.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—The wolverine, king of beasts of the Sierras, is making its last stand in the vicinity of Mount Whitney and Sequoia National park and must be placed on the state protection list if it is not to join in history the mastodon and mammoth of the past, the State Fish and Game Commission has advised Governor Richardson in a special communication.

"Extirpation of the wolverine would be a serious crime in which man would be held to strict accountability," says the report.

ALBANY LINKED TO EARLY KANSAS

Talk of Making Sinclair King Harry I Recalls Pioneer Explorers

By W. F. SULLIVAN
For International News Service.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—Lightning never strikes in the same spot twice, but history often repeats itself, so they say.

Echoes of history came back recently to the minds of historians in the southwest linking this part of the country with a spot in Europe not prominent in the events of the continent across the sea.

Recent reports that Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man of the southwest, was offered the throne of the principality of Albania, to succeed Prince William of Wied, recall an event in history which linked these two parts of the world 90 years ago.

Kansas City and the southwest were then very much "diamonds in the rough"—in fact, the hand of civilization man had not been set to work on the spot where this city now stands.

It was at this time that a former Prince of Wied centered the attention of other parts of America and the world on the site where was built Kansas City and the surrounding country.

Made First Sketches
Accompanied by a young French artist named Karl Bodmer, Prince Alexander Philip Maximilian, Prince of Wied, explored this section of the country and gave to the world the first graphic pen-and-brush sketches of this part of the United States.

It was in the year 1833 that this German prince, with his French companion and artist, passed by this site en route to the Indian country on the Upper Missouri river. When a young man, Prince Alexander was a soldier in the German army. He fought against Napoleon and was present at many battles, including Jena. He was a prisoner of war for a time.

He longed for adventure and sought the then wild sections of this country for his explorations.

At the head of an expedition and accompanied by about 100 people, the prince and the artist left St. Louis April 9, 1833, aboard the boat Yellow Stone.

River Was Rough
The river at that time was unfit for navigation, and the account of this trip tells of encountering many sandbanks on the journey through this section of the country, which was inhabited at only a few spots by different tribes of Indians. After much hardship the expedition reached this stretch of the Missouri river on April 21, having taken 12 days on the trip from St. Louis. An excerpt from the prince's account of the trip says:

"On April 21 we reached the mouth of the Konza or Konzas river, called by the Indians 'Riviere des Canes.' From 500 to 600 paces from the mouth of the Konzas the banks of the river consisted of high clay walls in the forest. Near it lived remnants of several Indian tribes, who were driven or dislodged from the present site of the city of Kansas by the Indians of the Mississippi and to whom land was assigned in these parts. Among them were the Delawares, Shawnees, Miami and others."

The Konzas river later was changed in name to the Kaw, and Kansas City is now at the mouth of this river.

Later they witnessed a scalp dance of the Manitaries and were present at skirmishes and battles. They saw Indians on horseback in buffalo and bear hunts and engaged in various other pursuits.

They proceeded to within sight of the Rocky mountains, but owing to warnings of enraging the hostile Indians, they did not go beyond. Numerous sketches were made by the artist, Bodmer, which are found in the books written by Prince Alexander.

Before making their trip the two explorers had visited the Indian chief, Black Hawk, who was then incarcerated at St. Louis, at the invitation of William Clark, the Indian agent. They were advised not to attempt to penetrate the wilderness alone, and for that reason were induced to arrange for the expedition aboard the Yellow Stone.

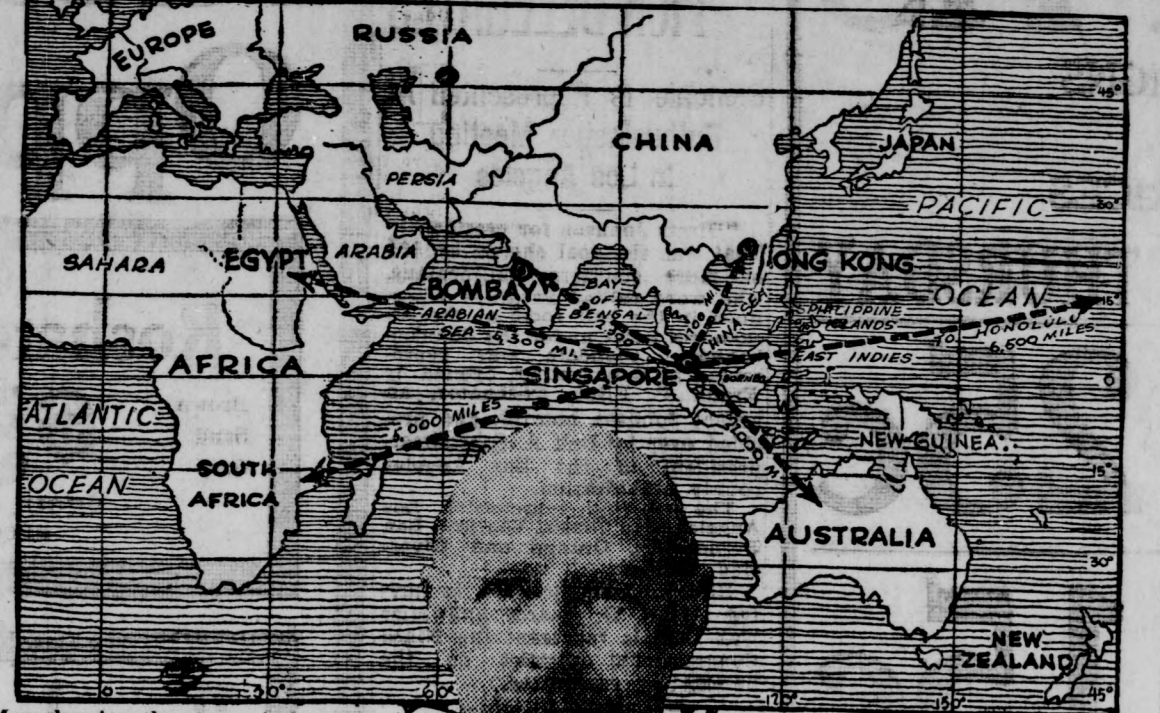

The prince and the artist explored much of South America and made many long journeys along the Amazon river, where they studied the traits of Indians and the geography of the country. The prince wrote a two-volume work on South America, which is referred to today as authentic information.

Insignificant Insects to Fight Gypsy Moth
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Insignificant as to size and not boasting even a distinctive name, but powerful in their ability to help the fruit raiser and horticulturist, a shipment of so-called beneficial insects are traveling across the continent from New York, on their last leg of a 10,000-mile journey from South Africa to California.

The insects, which are to be used to fight gypsy moths and other pests, have a section in a refrigerator car all to themselves. The work of developing the parasites is under the direction of Dr. Leland O. Howard, entomology section, Department of Agriculture, Washington. The California shipment was made through of the department working in the field in South Africa, and will be received by Harry S. Smith, at the College of Agriculture, University of California, at Davis.

BRITISH ELECTION UPSETS NAVAL BASE PLANS
Expenditure Of $55,000,000 On Singapore Meets Bitter Opposition

Map showing the strategic importance of Singapore with relation to the far flung possessions of Great Britain and (inset) Lord Cavan.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Reverses in the recent election have forced the government to abandon its plans for the construction of a $55,000,000 naval base at Singapore, "the hub and the strategic heart of the great Pacific zone."

General Lord Cavan, the commander-in-chief, who was to have departed shortly for Singapore to make final plans for the establishment of the base, has called off his trip.

The huge expenditure was hotly opposed by the Laborites and Liberals and the strength shown by those elements in the election made further consideration of the plans out of the question.

The Three-power disarmament agreement signed in Washington specifically exempted Singapore as outside the zone in which further fortification is banned.

A glance at the map will reveal the advantages of a naval base at this point. The little island just off the southern spur of the Malay peninsula is naturally the key and the gateway to the East. It is the natural meeting place of three of Great Britain's overseas naval stations, the China station, the East Indian and Australian stations, while the African station is behind it.

There has been ample evidence since the early days of the Anglo-Japanese alliance that Great Britain was preparing for a new naval strategy in the Far East, looking to a position of impregnability on the fringe of the Pacific and only a stone's throw from the very heart of the potential region of hostilities in that area.

But the Laborites, backed by the Liberals, are intent on cutting down appropriations for the military, and they thought that this

State to Do Share
"A lot of misleading and confusing statements have been made about what we are doing," said Toy, "and I want to reassert that California is going to complete the Pacific Highway as fast as it is humanly possible and in accordance with higher standards of construction which have been adopted for all work."

"From the standpoint of travel into the state, the Pacific Highway today is California's most important interstate road. We fully realize that only a road of high standards, free as possible from curves, can care for this traffic, totaling 2,000 machines a day."

Toy asserted that it will take approximately $5,000,000 to complete California's Pacific Highway program, but predicted that the money will be forthcoming when it is needed.

Prehistoric Remains Will Be Preserved
PHOENIX, Jan. 28.—A plot of ground containing four acres, on which is located the ruins of a prehistoric people, has been purchased by Judge Thomas Armstrong Jr. and deeded to the city, with the understanding that the mound will be excavated and improved as a public park for the city.

Hundreds of earthen vessels, skeletal remains and war implements have been taken from these ruins, the thorough excavation of which, however, has never been undertaken in a scientific manner.

Hard by the canal are the ruins of an ancient canal system undoubtedly in use by the inhabitants of the mound city for the irrigation of their lands. Indications point to an extensive system.

Standardization Will Cut H. C. of L. Is Claim
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 28.—"The high cost of living in America is due to lack of standardization," asserted Calvin W. Rice, secretary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, addressing a local audience. "You can't sit down to a banquet table without seeing at least three models of drinking tumblers. Of sixty-five types of castors a catalogue combined this reference: 'Each of these can be obtained in ten different finishes.'"

"Industry in America is not subsidized," continued Secretary Rice. "It finances its own researches, but America is compelled to compete with Great Britain and Germany, whose industries are to a certain extent subsidized."

"Great Britain's government started standardization nearly twenty-five years ago. The government appropriated $5,000,000."

RAIN IMPROVES UNUSUAL BENEFIT
H. E. Bartlett Tells About Past Facts and Figures On Storms Here

as our last two seasons totaled 27.58 and 12.23, it is seen that we have no reason to expect a heavy precipitation this year.

The lightest rainfall in the Bartlett's records is 1918-19, when but 11.72 inches fell. In this instance 5.89 inches fell before January 28. In 1911-12, the total precipitation of 12.86, the second lowest on record, came very late in the season, only 2.11 inches falling up to the end of January. While the precipitation for other years, up to that time, or corresponding with the present stage of the season, was as follows:

1918-19..... 5.87
1919-20..... 7.21
1920-21..... 6.87
1921-22..... 15.78
1922-23..... 6.21
1923-24..... 2.27

From these figures it is seen that only in one season, 1921-22, did a heavy precipitation occur prior to January 28, and that was when 15.78 inches deluged the countryside. Many remember that early season, when in December, 1921, alone, 9.30 inches fell, causing much damage and washing out many bridges.

More Moisture Due
The general conclusion drawn by Mr. Bartlett from his reports, however, is that the bulk of the seasonal downpour comes during the months of February and March. In January and February of 1914, a total of 22.17 inches fell, probably the greatest continued downpour in the history of Southern California, a storm period that did great damage in Glendale, felling poles, washing out tracks and carrying out the Pacific Electric bridge over the Los Angeles river, so that for months the city transportation was greatly handicapped.

Many heavy rains came in March also, states Mr. Bartlett. March, 1918, produced 9.44 inches, and March, 1920, produced 5.01 inches. That heavy rains also occur as late as May is shown by the record of a 5.01 inch precipitation in May, 1921.

The heaviest day's rain Mr. Bartlett ever remembers was on October 27, 1896, when at Pomona over 4 inches fell, doing vast damage and practically amounting to a cloudburst.

The present rain caused some damage around the city. A closed gutter at Garfield avenue allowed the water to rise so high as to conceal the curbing along the street car tracks, with the result that one motorist ran into it and broke a wheel.

Several drivers came to grief in the 700 block on South Glendale avenue, in the new water-main ditch, it is reported, calling on the police for assistance. Many minor accidents were caused by skids on the slippery pavement.

NEW CONCEPTION OF CREDIT, TOPIC
National Association Field Secretary Addresses Local Merchants

Members of the Glendale Merchants' association at their weekly luncheon in the Egyptian Village today listened with keen interest to the address of C. P. Younts, credit secretary of the Retail Credit Men's National association, on "The New Conception of Credit," in which he declared that credit forms the basis of all business of the relations between manufacturers and consumers. Mr. Younts handled his subject with the mastery that comes only from a close and intimate knowledge of every branch of the credit branch of the commercial relations between firms and their clients.

Another address was delivered by Manager Crossley of the credit department of Barker Brothers of Los Angeles, and Mr. Vandewater, president of the Retail Merchants' Credit association of Los Angeles, also spoke on matters of vital importance to the members of the local association, giving them information that will, it is predicted, materially aid them in their business.

Syracuse Nets Great Sum from Football
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Football netted Syracuse University profit of approximately $40,000 during the season just closed, according to officially announced figures.

Receipts overtopped every previous year; but expenditures, too, were for a high altitude. This money made the football, the same official explained, run all the other sports at Syracuse University. The list of major sports which football had to carry were baseball, basketball, lacrosse, crew, track and cross-country. The minor sports which received some of the money made in football were tennis, golf, soccer, swimming, rifle and wrestling. Other sports on the Hill which were not organized sports, but which received some help, were hockey, fencing and boxing.

THIEVES PLUNDER HARROWER HOME
Burglars; Goods Worth $300 Are Missing

If Dr. and Mrs. Henry R. Harrower had returned to their home, 1510 East Broadway, half an hour later Saturday night, they probably would have found it stripped of everything of a moveable valuable nature. As it was, the thieves slipped out a rear window as Dr. Harrower and his family drove up in front at 7:30 o'clock, and carried out of the window with them about $300 worth of clothing and odds and ends that had been taken from eight bureau drawers.

Tracks Sunday morning, indicated that the burglars were three, two men and a woman. They gained entrance by forcing a window in the patio while the family were taking an auto ride. A blanket had been spread on the floor and the contents of the bureau drawers thrown on it. The tops of the two bureaus and eight drawers had been cleaned, but three drawers had not been touched, and nothing but a couple of cut-glass pieces had been taken from the other room. Dr. Harrower stated that most of the loss was covered by burglar insurance.

BUILDING TOTALS REACH $750,268
Three Quarter Million Mark Passed by Permits Issued by City

Permits to the value of $6,245, issued Saturday at the office of H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, just managed to push the mark for 1924 over the three-quarter million mark. The total announced was $750,268.

Permits were granted to the board of education for two bungalows, one at the Grand View school and the other on Colorado street.

The following permits were issued:

Charles W. Wilson, 5 rooms, 359 West Palmer street, $ 3,000
Board of Education, school, Colorado street, 1,500
Vera T. Beal, garage, 1426 Thompson street, 250

(Fall) and the secretary of the navy (Denby)."

Senator Walsh's resolution differed materially from the one he announced originally he would present.

For one thing it provided that the special counsel to be appointed by the president to prosecute the oil lease cases would have to be confirmed by the senate and that once confirmed they would "have charge and control of the prosecution of such litigation, anything in the statutes touching the powers of the attorney-general notwithstanding."

Government Pamphlet Aid to Home Builders
A number of government pamphlets issued through the division of building and housing are available at the offices of the Gullord-Craig company, realtors, 408 Lawson building, corner of North Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue.

These pamphlets explain many of the problems met in acquiring a home, it is stated, and bear the conviction that is inevitable with information coming from government sources.

Some of the points covered are: financing, savings, location, transportation, nearness to schools, property values, examination of title, construction of a house, plans, contracting, ways of reducing costs, buying a new or old home, points to be examined, maintenance cost and expenses.

A number of financing tables are also appended. Mr. Gullord states, the pamphlet going into detail on many vital angles of the home-owning problem.

"Undoubtedly fear is one of the greatest obstacles in the path of owning a home," says Mr. Gullord. "Fear of getting the wrong place, of paying too much, of not being able to meet the payments, of being tied down and many other fears, most of which will vanish with a clear understanding of the subject, such as is afforded by this little government booklet which we will distribute free to home-seekers while they last."

JOHNSON FORCES PICK DELEGATES

Glendale Is Represented At Enthusiastic Meeting In Los Angeles

"Hiram Johnson for president!" That was the goal chosen by 500 or more southern Californians, who were rallied Saturday afternoon in the ball room at the Alexandria hotel under the Johnson banner. Glendale was represented at the meeting, opened by Frank P. Flint, ex-senator, an ardent Johnson booster, and presided over by Dell A. Schweitzer, president of the Los Angeles county organization.

The meeting represented Los Angeles, San Diego, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside counties.

Glendale was honored in having Albert D. Pearce and Miss Eva Daniels represent the Ninth Congressional district on the nominating committee.

Prominent Speakers. Among the speakers of the afternoon were Frank P. Flint, ex-senator and chairman; Charles L. Newmiller, guiding spirit of the Johnson organization in the north; Major John L. Bacon of San Diego, and Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney.

The four delegates-at-large to be voted on by California voters at the May primary and sent to the national convention are Mr. Flint, ex-senator; R. C. Harbison, editor of the San Bernardino Sun; Seth Brown, president of the California State Federation of Labor; Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson, national Republican committeewoman from California.

Other delegates to be voted on at the May primary are Roger Edwards of Ventura county, Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, Louis M. Cole, former president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. John T. Coleman, president of the Los Angeles City club; J. W. Jamieson, president of the Jamieson Oil company; John A. Held, member of the San Diego City Council; W. B. Williams of the First National bank of Santa Ana.

Among the Glendadians attending the meeting were Albert D. Pearce, Miss Eva Daniels, J. H. Franklin and Dr. Jessie A. Russell.

TEXT POINTS TO REMEDY FOR SIN

God's Purpose Must Dominate World Before Harmony Comes, Claim

The regular Sunday morning service of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held in the Glendale Theatre. After an excellent organ recital by Paul Constant, Rev. W. E. Edmonds delivered a stirring message from the text Isaiah 53:6. "All we, like sheep, have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all."

"This text is one of the great mountain peaks of redemptive truth. Meditation upon this truth is akin to a visit to Gethsemane or Calvary, for no one can look or listen here and then fail to give his allegiance to the one upon whom was laid the iniquity of us all. The text is unique in that there is nothing like it in all the non-Christian religions. They have no power to assist man in the things which they teach. Confucius taught 'love your enemies,' but he could not endow man with the power to perform, because the fatal defects in man call for a new heart cleansed from sin through the power on the shed blood of Jesus Christ. This fact is fundamental in matters of faith.

"The text suggests that the world is off course. The world is a mass of confusion. The machinery rattles and creaks. With all the oiling and patching there is a constant breaking down. Restlessness on every hand. The cry of peace, peace when there is no peace, and until man is willing to allow God's purpose to be dominant there can be no true harmony.

False Counsellors. "Man from the beginning has listened to false counsellors who suggest that if man will only try to do his best all will be well. The trouble is that no man ever lived who has done the best he could. The rich young ruler came very near to it, but his best was not good enough in the sight of God. The scriptures declare there is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but this is a way of death."

"The remedy, 'The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all.' Through faith sin is taken from the sinner and laid upon Christ. He bore our sins in His own body on the tree. This is the most transcendent and glorious news to a world off its course. Man's part is to believe and live."

VALUE OF SEEING GOD, IS SUBJECT

Rev. C. M. Calderwood Preaches to Casa Verdugo M. E. Congregation

"The Value of Seeing God in the Ordinary Events of Life" was the subject of a stirring sermon delivered by Rev. C. M. Calderwood of the Congregational church, before the congregation of Casa Verdugo Methodist church at the Sunday morning service. His text was "After the fire, a still small voice" from the First Book of Kings.

The sermon was based on the story of Elijah, his discouragement, the cause of his pessimism, and his search for a revelation of God.

"We as finite creatures have a great longing to know the infinite," he said in part. "Many have only an anthropomorphic idea of God and not the spiritual idea; others look for a revelation only in great catastrophes; still others consider Him only in the past or in great things and not in the little things that happen from day to day; some look for a revelation in science only; others in everything but science. Scientific truth is just as much God's truth as historical truth is God's truth."

"It takes an earthquake or a fire to shake some people out of their stupidity; special revelations were necessary even in Israel to waken the people from their lethargy."

Bulwark of Religion. "Science is not the bulwark of religion; it is the bulwark of religion; we are stupid if we do not see the revelations of God in the miraculous discoveries of science. All great religious leaders have had their greatest revelations of God in places apart from great activity. God was not just a first cause; he is not just a spectator of human events; he has not retired from the scene of activity; it is a living God that makes a living church, a living sense of God that makes a live church. When in the beginning He created the Heavens and the earth, He made us partners with Him in the earth, and as in days of old, we can hear His voice just as surely as Adam heard it when He walked in the Garden of Eden.

Special music numbers were an anthem, "Ye That Stand in the House of the Lord" (Spinney), by the choir and a soprano solo, "My Redeemer and My Lord" (Dudley Buck), by Mrs. Waldo Winger. "Two Uses of a Weapon" was the subject of the sermon by the regular pastor, Rev. J. C. Livingston, at the evening service.

SPORTS SPOILED BY WET WEATHER

Sunday Events Called Off
When Jupiter Pluvius
Weeps Too Opiously

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.
Promoters, racers and fans are feeling blue this Monday. The prime events of Southern California were called off yesterday on account of the rain. So was the White Sox baseball game here.
Jupiter Pluvius had one of his occasional weeping spells shortly after Sunday dinner. It was a very drear day, we tell you, for the railbirds, the speed demons and the ball player.
Culver City and its fast steppers had just reopened to complete a hundred-day season of horse racing, according to Dick Ferris. Maybe he was confidentially praying for rain until enthusiasm could be found, for the king of sports. While the horses ran through the mud, the crowds didn't.

Saddest Story Not Written
And George Bentel, over at Ascot, had just launched the weekly speed wagon contests on an awful dusty oval, when along came the rain, which not only laid the dust, but the whole show as well. The saddest story of all, however, was left unwritten in the newspapermen's gallery, where the telegraph operators and others who didn't fall their assignments, ate the free lunch and figured out what they would write to fill the sporting pages today. There's nothing like wet weather when the good fellows get together and start the hot stove league stuff.

For instance, there is supposed to be something in this story worthy of reading today, but when it rains, what is there worth writing except the auto crashes, the history of the last forty years' rainfall, etc.?

Among Other Things
Everybody stayed at home, who had a home to stay at. Or they went to church or the picture theatres or the neighbors, but that isn't news.

Some got their feet wet and they may catch cold. If any got their noses wet, we haven't been told.

It is a perfectly blue Monday after a season of the most unusually fine weather we have ever seen in Southern California. And that's that!

Scenes of Savior's Death And River Jordan Rouse Deep Emotions In Kirk

W. B. Kirk's last travel letter was from Jerusalem, and the letter herewith printed was written from the same place. In his last letter Mr. Kirk told of trips about the city, and today he continues this story.

W. B. KIRK

He writes: "Friday morning we went to the Mount of Olives, and on the way stopped at what is called 'Gordon's Calvary,' which, to our minds, is the logical location of the crucifixion and tomb, as the location, conditions, etc., fit the Bible narrative perfectly. The view from Mount Olivet is very fine, almost all of Jerusalem being visible, to the west, and the Dead Sea, thirty miles away, being seen to the southeast.

"Yesterday morning, being beautiful, we decided to make our long-desired trip to the Dead Sea and Jordan. In two Dodge cars, with the Scotch couple and another Scotchman, and having our guide pilot with the Arab drivers, we left at 9 o'clock, going past Damascus and Herod's gates, turning south past the temple site and passing on the way the place where Stephen was stoned, to the Garden of Gethsemane, which lies at the foot of the Mount of Olives.

It is small, in a walled enclosure and in the form of an irregular square. On the roadway in the front part of it Greeks are building a very fine stone church to cost a million pounds. It seems a shame that, with all the churches there are in and about Jerusalem, all this money should be spent on a building which will mar this sacred spot.

"In the garden are only very old olive trees with decaying trunks three or four feet through, the largest probably, being closer to the church wall and called 'The Agony Tree' for the reason which you can well imagine. Passing the tomb of the Virgin Mary we climbed the hill to the south of Mount Olivet and sped down the valley of Kedron, which is only a dry rocky bed for most of the year and as yet hasn't a drop of water running in it.

Primitive Farming
"We saw a few natives plowing with oxen and their crude plows, shepherds just like those you see in pictures leading their flocks, and the Judean hills already beginning to show green just as they do in California after the first rain.

"Of course we were thinking of the good Samaritan story as we wound our way through the hills and presently we stopped at the place where is reputed to be the inn to which the wounded man was taken. It is only a miserable

ASK COUNCIL TO CHECK SPEEDERS

Menace to School Children, Say Broadway Fathers
in Open Letter

Following the meeting late last week of the Fathers' Auxiliary of the Broadway School Parent-Teachers' association another open letter has been addressed to the city council and chief of police. The letter which is dated January 26 and signed by Chester R. Rettberg, secretary of the Fathers' Auxiliary reads:

"Your attention is respectfully called to a situation which merits your attention and demands immediate action.

"Numerous complaints have been made regarding thoughtless and careless automobile drivers who persist in speeding past Broadway school. This has been mentioned before but the remedy has not yet appeared.

Urgent Prompt Action
"We understand that something is going to be done but ask your immediate attention before we all have to make apologies for not having done our duty.

"Several narrow escapes very recently in front of Broadway school only impress upon us the danger of further delay.

"We ask that Broadway be immediately marked plainly with painted lines a suitable distance east and west of crossing areas. We suggest that the word SLOW preceding the words SCHOOL STOP be painted in white upon the pavement and that for a suitable period, our motorcycle officers, be instructed to make it their duty to supervise traffic in these restricted areas for a reasonable time before and after the opening and closing school hours.

No Extra Men Needed
"It would require no extra men as it is used to be a common practice for motorcycle officers to watch Broadway traffic from the vantage point of Olive street. During those periods traffic slowed down appreciably on Broadway.

"Thanking you for your attention to a matter which vitally interests every father."

QUESTIONS HELP IN TAX PROBLEM

Collector Tells Details to Be Considered When
Filing Returns

In order to file an accurate income tax return for the year 1923, taxpayers of every class, business and professional men, salaried persons, wage earners and farmers were advised today by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, to present to themselves for consideration the following questions:

Did you receive any interests on bank deposits?

Have you any property from which you receive rent?

Did you receive any income in the form of dividends or interest from stocks or bonds?

Did you receive any bonuses during the year?

Did you make any profit on the sale of real estate, stocks, bonds, etc.?

Did you act as broker in any transaction for which you received a commission?

Are you interested in any partnership or other firm from which you receive income?

Have you any income from royalties or patents?

Have you any minor children who are working?

Have you control of the earnings of such children? If so, the amount must be included in the parent's return of income.

Has your wife any income from any source whatever? If so, it must be included in your return, or reported in a separate return of income.

Did you receive any directors' fees or trustees' fees in the course of the year?

Did you hold any office in a benefit society from which you received income?

Answers to these questions are necessary in the filing of a correct income tax return, Collector Goodcell declared.

Most Report Incomes

If single (or married and not living with wife) and the net income was $1,000, or more, or the gross income $5,000, or more, or if married and living with wife and the couple's net income was $2,000, or more, or the gross income $5,000, or more, a return is required. The fact that the income may not be taxed by reason of the personal exemption—$1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married persons whose net income was $5,000, or less and $2,000 for married persons whose net income was in excess of $5,000 plus the $400 credit for each dependent—does not alter this requirement.

Persons whose net income was $5,000 or less and was derived chiefly from salary or wages should ask for Form 1040-A. Those whose net income was in excess of $5,000, or, regardless of the amount, was derived from business or farming should ask for Form 1040.

"File your return today and avoid the rush," Collector Goodcell advised.

Inaugurating a policy of taking the government to the people, Collector Goodcell has assigned sixty deputy collectors to visit practically every town in Southern California and assist the 280,000 taxpayers who will file returns this year in preparing their annual reports of income. Hundreds of requests have been made for this service.

Will Open Offices

The deputies will open branch offices, and taxpayers in arranging their returns and the returns may be filled with the Deputies. "The duty of these Deputies," said Collector Goodcell, "is not only to see that the taxpayer includes in his return all taxable income, but to likewise safeguard the taxpayer's interests by making sure that in filling out his return he receives the benefit of every exemption, credit and deduction that the law allows. In other words, the deputies' instructions are to see that the income taxpayer receives an absolutely square deal and is thoroughly advised as to his rights."

The dates on which deputies will visit the various towns and the San Fernando Valley and open offices are as follows:
Newhall, February 4, Postoffice; San Fernando, February 5 to 7, City Hall; Van Nuys, February 8 and 9, City Hall; Lancaster, February 11 and 12, Chamber of Commerce; Owensmouth, February 13, State Bank; Burbank, February 14 to 18, City Hall; Glendale, February 19 to 23, Hahn Realty Co.; San Fernando, February 25 to 26, City Hall; Van Nuys, February 27 and 28, City Hall; Lancaster, February 29 and March 1, Chamber of Commerce; Burbank, March 3 and 4, City Hall; Glendale, March 5 to 15, Hahn Realty Company.

Anti-Klux Legislator
Asks for Bodyguard

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—After he received two more threatening letters, State Assemblyman Julius Berg applied to police for a bodyguard and asked federal authorities to investigate the latest threats.

Berg, who introduced an anti-Klux Klan bill in the state legislature, said he had received five letters and a number of telephone calls, all menacing in terms. Some of the telephone calls were from professed Klansmen, Berg said.

Jimmie Johnson of Tujunga Holds High School Record For Absorbing Sweet Icicles

Jimmie Johnson of Tujunga, Glendale Union High school boy, is the holder of a local record. Perhaps he holds several records, for all we know.

Among other sports not taught at high school, although they are equally interesting as golf, pinocche, etc., is the gentle art of absorbing icicles.

An icicle in southern California, he it understood, is not an icicle. It is a candy confection produced by the Glendale Ice Cream company and sold at the neighborhood sweet shops.

As a delectable dessert for a high school student's lunch an icicle is eagerly sought. It is built like an all day sucker, such as one used to find at the country store.

Now it appears that Jimmie Johnson has a penchant for getting on the outside of icicles. Which makes it reasonable to presume the icicles get inside—in short order.

At Ahlmann's drug store at noon it is reported Jimmie bested all competitors at icicle eating. He then went over to the Wayside Inn and issued a challenge.

It took young Mr. Johnson just 2 minutes and 10 seconds to get away with the 1924 model all day sucker.

This is an age of speed, surely.

'Galloping Fish' Preview
On Rainy Night Proves
There Is Joy In Water!

"Galloping Fish," an adaptation of Frank R. Adams' story, "Friend Wife," had its preview at the Glendale theatre last night. It was well received by the fans who braved the needed but undesirable elements of the evening.

Louise Fazenda, Syd Chaplin, Ford Sterling and Chester Conklin, now under the Thomas H. Ince banner, were the principals who got the fish galloping, viz. one trained seal. They promote hilarious comedy.

It might be said that "Galloping Fish" is one of the few continuously funny features filmed and there is no question but what it will score heavily as a box office attraction.

Story Told On Syd

Several of the stars were present, as well as members of the Ince studio staff, and in the course of the evening some stories were told, one of the most amusing being as follows:

Syd Chaplin and the famous Napoleon appear dissimilar enough to the casual eye but Syd alleges that they have one trait in common. Napoleon's mother, when he was an infant, spent many hours worrying and consulting physicians because the child had a pulse beat of only fifty, far below the normal count, but the royal consultants finally convinced her that this was normal for her infant.

Syd has the same sub-normal pulse beat. Aside from the fact that it puts him in a class with Napoleon, he claims that it enables him to undergo strenuous exercises such as was required of him in the spectacular flood scenes of the "fish" story without a flicker of an eye-lash. Exercise which would put another man in the grave is just a tonic for Charlie's brother and makes him feel 100 per cent, so he alleges.

Eagle Plays Role
In New Ince Film

Symbolic of the all American character of the new "western" on which he is now at work and which he expects to make the greatest production of his career, Thomas H. Ince has secured an American golden eagle, the rarest and most majestic of all birds, as a member of the cast of "The Last Frontier," his historical drama of the laying of the first transcontinental railroad through the heart of the western buffalo lands. This was told by members of his executive staff who were present at the preview of "Galloping Fish" last night at the Glendale Theatre.

At great expense, the producer has brought "Sam" from the high Rockies in western Canada where he was trapped to join the colony of Hollywood's screen celebrities. The bird, one of the few American eagles ever captured, has caused a sensation in screen circles. He is a perfect specimen of the beautiful plumage of leaf brown tinged with the golden high lights which give him his name.

A hunter in the Rockies shot him down a few months ago and managed to capture him. Binding up the wound in his wing, he tamed the eagle by entering his cage every other day with choice bits of fresh meat. The bird soon

Early Marriage for Better Babies, Plea

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—The mother of Boston's most nearly perfect baby boy has something to say to young brides.

She is Mrs. Ida Altshuler, 23 years old, of No. 12 Buckminster street, Brighton, who after ten years of childless married life, became the mother of Robert Louis Altshuler, now aged 9 months. He ranked as the closest to perfection of any youngsters of his class at the recent Boston Health Show.

"It's more fun to hum a lullaby in your own cozy nursery than it is to listen to the greatest jazz of all the joy joints along the Great White Way," declared Mrs. Altshuler.

NAME OF PASTOR ON WAR TABLET

Rev. W. G. Cowan Is Admitted As Latest Member of Sunset Club

The honor of having his name on the bronze tablet on the Pennsylvania monument on the site of the battle of Gettysburg is claimed by Rev. William G. Cowan, of 469 Milford street, Methodist minister, Civil War veteran, member of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., and enrolled today in The Glendale Evening News Sunset club because he celebrated his 85th birthday, Sunday, January 13.

Meeting a Methodist minister is not an unusual every-day occurrence, but to meet a Methodist minister coming from a family of Presbyterians is indeed unique. Such is the background of Rev. Cowan, who was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He was reared in the Presbyterian church, in which his father was a ruling elder till his death.

When he was but a young man the Civil War occurred and Rev. Cowan enlisted with the 140th Pennsylvania infantry and served for three years. During his service his father died and his mother's death occurred six weeks later.

Joined Methodist Church

The young William Cowan then went into Ohio and there was closely associated with Methodist young people and in this way became a member of the Methodist church. Later he became a minister, serving in the Pennsylvania conference, then ten years in the St. Louis, Missouri conference and, and in 1888 came to California.

During the past thirty-eight years Rev. Cowan has served Methodist churches under the Southern California conference, occupying pulpits in Pasadena, Riverside, San Bernardino and Long Beach.

Rev. and Mrs. Cowan have three children, two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Widney and Mrs. Sarah Cowan Lang, and a son, Marvell W. Cowan, all living in Long Beach. It was with their children at the beach that the Cowans celebrated the recent birthday anniversary.

Teaches Sunday School

Although a member of the First Methodist church of Glendale, Rev. Cowan is interested in all Methodist churches and at present teaches a Sunday school class at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

Rev. Cowan's looks and activity belie his eighty-five years. He enjoys the best of health and is devoted to motoring, driving his own automobile.

In telling of his war experiences Rev. Cowan includes his attendance at the great encampment of 70,000 Union and Confederate veterans on the field of Gettysburg a few years ago.

Members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club are looking forward to welcoming Rev. Cowan to the club meeting Saturday afternoon, February 2.

Charges May Follow
Automobile Crash

Upon investigation of a report that there had been an auto crash on Verdugo road Saturday afternoon, Captain W. A. Loving and Detective Sergeant Blake found that a Buick driven by a man named Sturgis had been hit by an Overland driven by Lynacio Zatarani.

It is expected that Sturgis will appear today and swear out a warrant for Zatarani on a charge of reckless driving. No one was injured.

CLIMBS MT. VERDUGO

Leslie R. Tarr, assistant city attorney, yesterday revealed a custom that is unusual, but no doubt well worth the benefits derived. Whenever a slow rain sets in during the day he climbs Mount Verdugo—a perilous trip, perhaps, but most enjoyable. He reported he only saw one other mountain climber during the rainy Sunday afternoon.

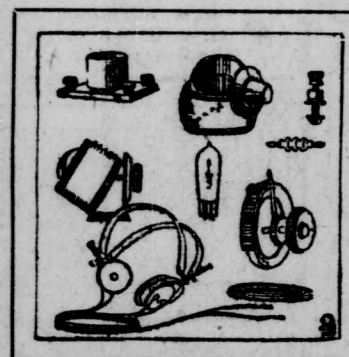

A machine will now cut bread and evenly butter the slices.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Denver Becoming Rocky Mountain Rail Center; First "Beef Week" to Be Celebrated Shortly; Industrial Exposition Will Be Held Soon.

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service.

DENVER, Jan. 28.—With the completion of the huge railroad shops of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Utah Junction, on the outskirts of this city, and the vast improvements by other railroads entering the city, Denver is rapidly developing into the railroad center of the Rocky mountain region, and is destined to become the rail gateway to the Pacific coast, the northwest and the vast expanse of territory to the southwest.

Virtually all products of Colorado farms, cattle ranches, sugar factories and coal and metal mines, en route to world markets, pass through Denver, and the "queen city of the west" has become the distributing point for many thousands of tourists, lured by the scenic wonders of the Rockies—in summer and winter.

A total of approximately $27,000,000 was spent in Colorado in 1923 by four big railroad systems for improvements to lines and equipment, the bulk of it in this city.

These four railroads—the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Colorado and Southern, the Denver and Rio Grande Western and the Union Pacific—now have an annual payroll of $15,000,000 in Denver and Colorado.

The largest expenditure made by the roads for a single unit improvement was $3,000,000, by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, for the construction of the Utah Junction shops, said by railroad men to be one of the finest railroad shop plants in the United States.

Denver's first "Beef Week" will be celebrated early in February. During the week the "finest beef obtainable anywhere at any price" will be offered to the Denver consuming public, according to announcement. The week will be celebrated following the annual National Western Stock show, in order that prize stock exhibited during the show may be slaughtered and prepared for consumption.

Elaborate plans are being made for the Colorado Industrial Exposition and Prosperity Carnival, to be held at the Municipal Auditorium, February 18 to 23.

Colorado products of every description will be exhibited, and the importance of the use by Colorado citizens of home-made goods will be emphasized.

One of the features of the carnival will be an "Industrial Princess Revue," at which prizes will be awarded to the most beautiful young women in the industrial world.

Much interest is manifest here in the announcement by Governor Sweet that Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing prison, New York, and head of the National Society of Penal Information, will shortly make a survey of the Colorado penitentiary at Canon City.

The investigation, according to the governor's statement, will call for a "report on matters concerning physical welfare, industry, education, dietetics, sanitation, discipline and moral influence." The governor declares the present administration of the state prison is "an able one and the survey is in no way intended as a reflection upon the conduct of the prison's affairs."

GIRL'S DEATH STIRS GANG FEUD

Gotham Gunmen Plan To Avenge Suicide

Yochki Churgin

"Midget Louie," her sweetheart, was slain by a rival gang, chiefly, it is believed, because Yochki "quit" the brother of "The Dropper." Yochki, heart-broken, killed herself. Now the former comrades of the slain "Midget" swear to avenge the double tragedy.

By JACK CARBERRY

For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Up in "Hell's Kitchen" and down in "Mulberry Bend" gangsters today polished their "gats."

Yochki Churgin will be avenged.

For it is Yochki Churgin's romance—a weed that grew in the teeming streets, the back room "social clubs" and the crowded tenements of New York's Lower East Side—which has once again arrayed gangsters in sharply drawn battle lines.

Yochki Churgin is dead. She killed herself for love of "her man."

He—"Midget Louie" Schwartzman—had been "bumped" because he loved her.

Louis Caplin, "The Dropper," was himself slain in turn because he had killed "Midget Louie."

Such is "romance" in New York's lower east side.

Pales Fiction

Fiction holds no "romance" such as came to Yochki Churgin—"Queen of de gangs." Fiction never dared be so bold.

Yochki was born in Russia. When she was a babe her parents "settled" in what New York calls "a home"—three rooms in a block where 500 families raised 2,000 "kids."

"Old Man" Churgin became a pushcart merchant. Of a morning, before sunrise, one could see him coming from the synagogue, where he had prayed that "Yochki be a good girl—sweet and pure—on the day he would lead her to the marriage canopy."

Fifteen drab, colorless years slipped by.

Yochki attended her first dance.

The first dance is an event in every girl's life—even in New York's lower East Side, where the "hops" are held in the "social clubs" back of thinly camouflaged saloons.

Yochki was "knocked down" to the gang that night. Among those she met was Izzy Caplin, "The Dropper's" brother.

A "broad" has to be a mighty "classy Jane" to even get a "tumble" from one of "The Dropper's" clan. Yochki was "that kind of a Jane."

"Lucky," the other girls said. "The Dropper" and his gang at that time were engaged in a garment union strike. They served as "grubmen" for a manufacturer, and the crowded tenements of New York's Lower East Side—which has once again arrayed gangsters in sharply drawn battle lines.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE PIGGIE BOYS

Uncle Wiggily was sitting in his hollow stump bungalow one day, reading the paper to find out how much carrots would cost next week when, all of a sudden, in came Baby Bunty.

"Hello, Baby Bunty!" greeted Uncle Wiggily, who was very fond of the little orphan rabbit girl.

"Why are you in such a hurry?" he asked, for he could tell by the manner in which Baby Bunty was leaping about, that she was excited over something.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" panted the little rabbit girl. "You ought to come and see them! You just ought to!"

"Whom ought I to go see?" asked Mr. Longears, with a twinkle and a half of his pink nose.

"You ought to see Curly and Floppy Twistytail," went on Bunty.

"Do you mean those two piggie boys?"

"Yes! You just ought to see what they're playing!" and Baby Bunty was so excited that she had to sit down on the floor to get her breath.

"What are they playing?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "If they are playing snowball or snow man or something like that I should think it would be all right, for there is plenty of snow. And if they are playing and having fun, the Bob Cat or the Woogie Wolf can't be after them. At first I thought you were going to tell me that."

"Oh, it's worse than the Fuzzy Fox or the Woogie Wolf!" gasped Baby Bunty. "Just you come and see!"

"Hum!" This is strange," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. But as Baby Bunty was very much in earnest, the rabbit gentleman decided to do as she asked, and go with her.

Little Miss Bunty led Uncle Wiggily out of the hollow stump bungalow, down the path, around the corner and out on the road that led to the woods.

"Are Curly and Floppy in the woods?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, not quite—about half way there," answered Bunty. "You'll see them pretty soon."

And, in about a twinkle and a quarter of his pink nose, Uncle Wiggily saw the piggie boys not far ahead of him. There they were—Curly and Floppy—two cute little piggie boys, running about the snow having a good time, it seemed.

"Why, I don't see anything wrong with them, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily to the rabbit girl.

"Just you wait!" whispered Bunty.

Hardly had she spoke than Floppy cried:

"Now come on, Curly, and we'll play automobile some more."

"Oh, I don't want to—it hurts," grunted Curly, who had that name because he had a curly tail.

"Yes, come on, let's play auto," grunted Floppy.

"Now watch," whispered Baby Bunty to Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't see anything wrong with this game—playing automobile," spoke the bunny.

"I've seen the animal boys and girls play it many times. I can't understand."

"Just watch!" whispered Baby Bunty.

Then, as Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty, hidden behind a snow bank, watched, the piggie boys began running up and down the path, just as one automobile might chase another.

"Well," said Mr. Longears, "you may see something wrong with this, Bunty, but I don't. I guess—"

But just then Curly lay down on the ground and Floppy, taking an umbrella from where it was stuck in the snow, began jabbing the umbrella's sharp point in his brother's fat little ribs.

"Oh, quee! Quee! Quee!" squealed poor Curly. "Ouch! You hurt!"

"Here! you mustn't do that to your brother, Floppy!" cried Uncle Wiggily, jumping out from behind the bank of snow.

"Oh, but I got to do it to him," grunted Floppy, as he kept on jabbing the umbrella point in Curly's ribs. "I got to!"

"Why?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Cause we're playing automobile."

dead. In a cheap room in a cheap tenement she had killed herself. "Somebody's got to pay for Yochki's death," "gangdom" has decreed. "There's something 'doin'' over on the lower East Side again."

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE

A certain lady
Lost her temper
When her landlord
Raised her rent $5
And she attacked him
And pulled out his hair,
And when she was arrested
The court told both parties
To go back home and keep peace.
It is to be hoped that this
Method of attacking landlords
Every time they raise rents
Will not be adopted everywhere
Or the air would be so full of hair
That it would be hard to breathe.

Tha old boys used to wonder which would be better, a high protective tariff or an income tax.
In these days we don't have to wonder. We have both.

It is said that immigrant families from South America are coming with great rolls of money on them. Well, it is fair to say that they will need it.

When you view some of the new fall "otter" furs, you can cease wondering what has become of all the alley cats.

One of John D.'s nephews has gone to work at $20 a week. Must be working for his uncle.

THE SWISS ISSUE

We'd never have known he'd been drinking.
(Which is rather unusual for blondies).

If I hadn't inquired, little thinking.

The news of the market in bonds.

It seems there has been a Swiss issue.

And in trying to give us the dope

It was just like a baby should kiss you.

Or a man with his mouth full of soap.

"The Swiss are fiducially hearty—"

I'm sorry I didn't learn more
But by tacit agreement the party
Went swiss-issuing out through the door.

Country's death rate was lower in 1921 and 1922 than ever before. Probably that is because many former pedestrians are now driving automobiles.

BALLADE OF YE STYLISH SKIRT

("Tight skirts are in again.")
Fashion Review

Miss Euphemia Burt
Bought a stylish new skirt.
The kind that's so tight that it pinches.

To the mode she was hep
But the young lady's step
Was at best but a scant seven inches.

One could not see her feet
As she hopped down the street
She worried the keen traffic copper.

She could not navigate,
And the cars had to wait,
And he feared that she might come a cropper.

And the autos, my word!
It was truly absurd.
For Euphemia never could dodge
'em.

So they stopped with a slam,
And they got in a jam,
And it took a half-hour to dislodge 'em.

When she went to a show,
With her regular beau,
To save time, the lady he carried,
And he said: "I can see

A tough life job for me,
If, perchance we should ever be married."

He would set down Miss Burt
In her very tight skirt
And lean her right up 'gainst the wickets.

So she couldn't fall down
In her Houdini gown,
And then he'd rush off for the tickets.

Two weeks of this stuff
And he had quite enough,
And eloped with a hack driver's daughter.

Who was not long on style,
But could walk a fast mile,
And wore large, roomy skirts, as she oughter.

She could cook and could scrub
And bend over a tub
And lose none of her girlish laughter.

At the housework she shone
In a home of her own,
And they happily lived ever after.

that some time ago.

TERM OF OFFICE FIXED BY BOARD

C. of C. Directors Settle Length of Service; Support of Clubs Is Pledged

Following discovery of a provision in the Chamber of Commerce charter, to the effect that five members of the board are to serve a two-year term and six a one-year term, a drawing was held, with these results:

For two years—Tom Walker, K. K. Simpson, Dave Bricker, E. O. Stumbo, Charles B. Wood.

For one year—R. W. Colburn, Mrs. May Clarke, Dr. David Thompson, J. H. Barnum, B. A. Cross and V. A. Bonney.

Practically all the organizations and clubs prominent in Burbank civic life have agreed to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in its efforts toward the management of J. W. Charleville to build up the city. The following committees have been appointed to act with it in an advisory capacity:

Women's club—Mrs. W. D. Rogers, Mrs. Estelle Ervin, the other to be announced later.

Business and Professional Women's club—Emily Brown, May Read and Beatrice Horne.

Rotary club—A. C. Fillbach, D. B. Cummings and Dr. Zeiss.

Kiwanis club—Chas. B. Fischer, J. C. Isbell and W. G. Schmelzel.

City of Burbank—Trustees Watson and Jackson.

Manager Charleville has been appointed to represent the Burbank Chamber of Commerce at the big meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce to be held in San Francisco January 29 and 30, it is announced.

Realty Board Prospects At a big meeting to be held February 4, when it is hoped to have present every broker of the city, there will be a special program and a prominent speaker, by way of pointing out the progress made by the board since the middle of last year, when the Monroe Doctrine exhibition left the board under a heavy debt.

A committee has been appointed to act with President George Watson and Vice-President W. A. Thompson in a revision of the by-laws of the board, bringing it up to correspond with present-day conditions. The committee comprises W. D. Miller, A. C. Gage and Charles E. Fischer.

Injured Man Dies John Blasingame of San Fernando, victim of the automobile accident that took place on San Fernando boulevard Tuesday, January 22, died at the Cottage hospital Wednesday morning, January 23, without regaining consciousness. As a result of the fatality, E. L. Brenot of San Fernando, driver of the death car, in which the victim also was riding, has been placed under arrest and brought to Burbank, where he is reported to be held under a charge of manslaughter.

The accident is said to be the result of Mr. Brenot's attempt to pass a truck and trailer, being struck by a car approaching in the opposite direction, before he could get clear.

REPORTS CAR THEFT

Ed Hennes, 1222 North Central avenue reported the theft of his Hudson coach Saturday night, from in front of his residence, between 7 and 9:30. The car carried license number number 63x100.

INCORPORATION IS DISCUSSED AGAIN

Seemingly Dead Issue Said To Be Very Much Alive In Foothills Now

Persistent rumors are in circulation to the effect that the incorporation controversy, which was apparently buried over a year ago, is not dead at all, and is coming to life again in Tujunga.

At meetings held for the purpose of discussing the fire protection question, election for settling which will be held January 30, have invariably ended in incorporation talk. It may be that John Steven McGroarty may still be mayor of Tujunga in fact as well as sentiment. He was elected once, but the incorporation measure failed to carry at that time.

Several different plans have been discussed at informal gatherings, although no definite steps have been taken to bring the issue to a head.

"City of Destiny" Some who are in favor of incorporation favor including the entire communities of both Tujunga and Sunland, and back their argument with the statement that the ultimate destiny of the valley is a single city. The two communities have grown so fast and toward a central point between the two that they are almost one city now.

Others favor incorporating only a small area in the neighborhood surrounding Sunset boulevard and annexing other territory as the city expands. It seems to be the general opinion of most of those interested that there is little doubt that Tujunga and Sunland will eventually be one city. The valley is only about four miles long and has merged in growth much the same as Montrose and La Crescenta, where there is little doubt that one city will be formed in the not distant future.

Bus Employees' Banquet A banquet was recently given the employees of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company and the Original Stake Line company at the Black Cat cafe in San Fernando by the officials of the two companies as a testimonial of appreciation for the work of the employees during the past year.

Musical members of the companies entertained with songs, and Don Campbell and Mr. Palm made speeches.

Work on the new grocery store building to be occupied by Mr. Conway has been in progress for several days and the building is expected to be finished in sixty days. Many other buildings are going up in the same neighborhood, at Los Angeles and Michigan avenues.

The club rooms of the Acacia club are being furnished and will be open to the members and their friends. The second floor of the Breit building has been leased, and Masons of the valley will hold their meetings there.

The Tujunga Valley Realty Board has made plans to establish a central office and install a library in their quarters. Certificates of membership in the board will be issued as soon as the brokers' licenses are received.

Work on the Green & Jenkins ice plant building is nearing completion, and machinery will be installed in plenty of time to care for the summer trade of the valley.

NEW FIRM OPENS STORE FOR MEN

Up-to-Date Establishment Is Launched at Formal Celebration

An opening worthy of the fast-growing city in the world, Glendale, took place here on Saturday, when the firm of Harding and Brown, haberdashers and caterers to the sartorial glories of man, threw open their doors to the public. With an up-to-date orchestra to guide the footsteps of the populace to their doors, these enterprising gentlemen had served tasty punch and wafers to all who came to bid them welcome. Large bowls and baskets of flowers decorated the tables and counters of the establishment, tokens from other merchants in this busy little town.

The interior of the store strikes one with its well appointed fixtures, these being in mahogany finish, with beautiful up-to-date show cases, filled with the best grades of men's furnishings, at city prices. There is also an up-to-the-minute cleaning establishment in the back end of the store where cleaning, pressing and tailoring are done. Everyone wishes the new firm the best of success, as they are men of the finest type, substantial citizens, back of all civic improvements, and workers.

This week the community sing is to have a new entertainer, who has promised through Mr. Prosper to be present on Thursday evening.

Singer to Appear Last week Mrs. Hopkins procured the well known Glendallian, Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, who, as usual, intrigued her audience with her clever work.

Mr. Prosper, the sing director, has promised to present John Anderson, a tenor of large concert experience, who will entertain the chorus with solos on Thursday evening at the Montrose schoolhouse.

Of interest to all is the announcement of a new hotel to be built in the Montrose business center. This will fill a long-felt want, while it is expected a picture theatre and stores will occupy the ground floor.

Rain! At last rain fell on the parched earth of Sunny California, but it was a gentle rain that dropped as the dew from heaven, and after the wet spell is over, our California will fascinate the tourists from all over more than ever. Truly we are indeed grateful for the coming of the long-desired rain.

Glendale Women Help On Thursday of this week the Ladies' Aid of the Central and First Methodist churches of Glendale will give the Ladies' Aid of Montrose Community church a shower which will include the needed articles for the home church kitchen. The Glendale people are truly proving themselves real neighbors in the way they assist all our civic movements, such as our community sing, the church and other work.

PLAN TO ENLARGE CITY'S LOT AREA

Extension of Boundaries to Include Four Square Miles, Is Aim

Attention of the San Fernando valley is focused on Van Nuys by the proposal of the Chamber of Commerce to enlarge the city lot area from one to four square miles. The proposal contemplates extension of the present boundaries one-half mile in each direction, making Sherman Way and Tulare street the north boundary, Woodman avenue the east boundary, El Nido street the south boundary, and Saugus avenue the west boundary. The area included within these limits is two square miles.

A committee comprising F. M. Keffer, Jas. R. Coldsworthy and B. R. Holloway was appointed at the meeting of directors Tuesday to investigate the cost of having a map prepared by a competent city designing engineer, the map to show the extended area laid out in lots and streets. Such a map would be used by the chamber as a guide for property owners in future subdivisions for their acreage pieces surrounding the present townsite.

Secretary George W. Bunton of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce was responsible for arranging a recent conference between this committee and the Los Angeles planning commission, at which further plans for the project were formulated, in the way of necessary steps to carry out the project.

New Country Club The Mountain View Country club is the name of a new $2,500,000 project launched last week with the purchase of a tract of $86 acres along the north side of Ventura boulevard, west of Reseda avenue and near Tampa boulevard.

Plans for the new clubhouse and grounds are very elaborate and involve a 4-story structure, five 18-hole golf courses, numerous tennis courts and a swimming pool that will be the largest in the west, according to Secretary P. C. Pickrell of the new organization.

The hotel-clubhouse is to be built on a slightly elevated, he states, and will provide 200 rooms for men and women and a veranda accommodating 100 persons, while a separate shower and locker building will have 100 showers for men and 50 showers for women, with hundreds of lockers.

The officers of the club, announced by Secretary Pickrell are as follows:

President, Charles H. Barnett, who is associated with the Merchants National Bank and the National City Bank; vice president, Robert S. Odell; secretary, P. C. Pickrell; treasurer, H. Jacobs of the National City Bank; and assistant secretary, A. D. Burt.

Tujunga Decision The suit against the Los Angeles County Flood Control commission has been decided in favor of the plaintiffs, the East Van Nuys Improvement association.

The decision of the court, handed down by Judge Mohan, rules:

(1) That the middle channel of the Tujunga Wash is a natural watercourse and cannot be blocked or diverted by the Flood Control.

(2) That the Flood Control remove and take away 165 feet of the southerly end of the levee constructed last Spring.

(3) That the "gap channel," that is, the curved or crescent-shaped branch making the island, is not a natural watercourse, and therefore the Flood Control had, and has, the right to build and maintain its levee at that point above Sharp street.

Cook shack, swimming pool and bunk houses are to be under construction shortly at the Boy Scout camp at Elizabeth lake, it developed at a meeting of the San Fernando Valley Boy Scout council, held last week in San Fernando.

S. G. Chamberlain is preparing the building plans, in conjunction with Scout Executive Von Glahn, while the swimming pool is being evolved by B. R. Holloway.

CAR IS STOLEN W. E. Blake, connected with Ferber's store, reported that his Ford car had been stolen from his parking place near the store some time Saturday night. The license number was 593-191.

Trading in Glendale Has Become Popular

When there is a Community need the people of Glendale rise to the occasion as, for example, the recent sewer bond election. The people of Glendale are meeting other Community needs, just as vital, perhaps, as the sewer bonds, every day, but in a less spectacular way.

Any community, to grow and prosper, must be made up of people who realize the importance of Community co-operation. Any community, situated like Glendale, is fortunate. Our location with reference to the mountains, the beaches and our neighboring big sister city, our scenic situation, our healthful altitude, equable climate and pure water are natural advantages that make for civic greatness and for which, as a city, we should be grateful.

But no city grows and prospers by means of natural advantages alone. After all, it is the people who make a city, and it is the quality of the citizenship as well as the quantity that determines the city's strength and greatness.

Glendale has been fortunate in her citizenship as well as in her location, and the combination of the two has resulted in the fastest growing city in the United States.

Glendale people know the importance of Community Loyalty in city building. They know that Community Business would fail without patronage, and they know that a city whose business life is stagnant cannot grow in population or importance. And so the people of Glendale are giving their support to Glendale business institutions.

In turn, Glendale business interests have developed in various quarters of the city districts devoted to business that are the pride of Glendallians and the admiration of outsiders. A far-sighted citizenry saw the possibilities in Glendale's natural advantages, and combining with them Community Loyalty and Co-operation, built a city whose fame is nation-wide.

OLYMPIC SKI AND SLED RUNS READY

Winter Sports Program Is Now on at Chamonix Says Paris Dispatch

By FRÉDÉRIC K. ABBOTT
For International News Service.
PARIS, Jan. 28.—In the little town of Chamonix, in the shadow of Mt. Blanc, all was in readiness when Count Clary, president of the Eighth Olympic Committee, opened the Winter Sports and from now until February 4, 500 athletes representing America, France, England and thirteen other nations will battle in the snow and on the rink for premier honors.

The big question for the Winter Sports Committee of the Eighth Olympiad is—To Freeze or Not to Freeze. It has often happened in the past that a thaw would come along a day or two before a carnival and the competitors would regret that they had not brought their canoes and bathing suits instead of their skates and skis.

Depends on Weather
With the exception of the possibility of naughty elements all has been done to make the sports a success. The town of Chamonix made a loan of 1,500,000 francs with which to prepare for the event. The French Federation of Winter Sports took 500,000 francs of the loan for permission to make the town their permanent headquarters. As a consequence the rink, the bob run and the ski jump have been built with a thought to permanency, therefore much better results have been attained.

"They've built," says Monsieur Frantz-Reichel, French sportsman and chairman of the Winter Sports Committee, "one of the best rinks I ever saw, with a seating capacity of 4,000 and a total surface of 40,000 square yards. The bob sled run is 5,904 feet long and has eighteen turns. In order to blaze a trail for the sleds, 10,000 trees had to be cut down and in many places dynamite had to be used on the mountain side to blast out the rock."

"The run," continues Monsieur Reichel, "is 3,969 feet high at the top and 3,456 feet at the bottom. The sleds are actually drops 313 feet during the run. Almost as high as some of your American skyscrapers."

With much labor and hard work the Aerial Cable Railway has been completed and will be used to carry the competitors to the top of the run. The cars will carry twenty passengers and will make a speed of five miles an hour. As a result of the preparations made for the games may be had when it is known that the pylons for the cable line average seventy feet in height and are banked at their base with 250 cubic yards of earth to protect them from avalanches.

Great care has been given to the gradings of the ski jump and it is expected that some record leaps will be made. The runway from the depart to the take-off is sixty yards long and affords a reception slope of 17.5 yards.

One thousand beds have been engaged by the committee for the competitors and officials. All the rooms for the competitors will be steam heated. In addition the committee has contracted for meals for the entrants at a minimum cost.

"There will be seventeen nations represented," concludes M. Reichel, "which will bring four hundred competitors to Chamonix, and I think you will agree, with me when I say that no such number of cold weather sportsmen ever got together in the past."

The program for the January 25 to February 5 includes:

- Skating (speed)—500, 1,500, 5,000 and 10,000 meters.
- Skating (fancy figures)—Ladies, gentlemen and mixed.
- Skiing (long distance)—50 kilometers.
- Skiing (short distance)—12 kilometers.
- Skiing—Jumping.
- Skiing—Military races with shooting.
- Hockey.
- Curling.
- Bobsledding.

All U. of C. Athletes to Pass Medical Exam

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—Every athlete engaging in competitive sports at the University of California now has to pass a medical examination.

The measure was instituted by R. W. Cortelyou, graduate athletic manager to insure the physical fitness of all men trying out for California teams.

The student managers of the various activities are responsible for the men in their respective sports. Coaches have expressed their approval of the new requirement.

Chandler of Bears Tennis Squad Rated

BERKELEY, Jan. 28.—E. G. Chandler, sophomore at the University of California, has been given second place in the Junior National singles rating recently made public. He was also given second place with Edward Murphy of Portland, Oregon, in the National Junior Doubles. He is promising material for the tennis varsity this season.

BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS—MILLER HUGGINS

By Dick Dorgan

MILLER HUGGINS
THE MITE MANAGER OF THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

Miller Huggins, the mite manager of the New York Yankees, has been named as the latest style in world's champions, has at last come into his own.

The Miller was one of the smallest ball players to get into fast company. He was a crack second baseman and lead-off man; in fact, one of the very best. After he slowed up he was appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. He coached Hornsby on batting and improved the second-sacker's playing all around.

In 1913 Ban Johnson had Huggins transferred to the American league and put in charge of the Yankees. Huggins has a very odd personality and a number of people took a dislike to him and discredited him with any managing ability. There was quite a bit of dissension in the Yankee fold, and when the team just managed to win the pennant by a single game in 1921, they went after Huggins with a vengeance.

After battling two innings in a downpour before a large crowd of fans, considering the weather, the White Sox and Jack Burns' San Pedro club called it a day yesterday and the game was called an account rain.

Glendale was leading at the time, 1 to 0. Doran had scored in the first inning on an infield error and two sacrifices. Neither Shadler for the visitors nor Arnold Crandall for the Sox had allowed a hit. The local twirler had been very busy, having four assists and one put-out on the six men who had faced him.

Four More Games
Glendale has four more games to play in the Triple A league—two with San Pedro, one with Union Tool and one with Sawtelle. Shell Oil was the only team to register a victory in the Keweenaw circuit yesterday, beating Union Tool at Signal Hill 4-0 in six innings of muddy baseball. Fairbanks for the Dutchmen was master of the situation at all times. As a result of their win they increased their lead and will now be very hard to overtake.

Saturday afternoon at White Sox park quite a large crowd gathered to watch the N. O. Nelson's and the Bayer-Rothge crew battle in the first of a series of three games for the Industrial league championship of Los Angeles. The plumbers blanked the opposition, 4-0, by twirling Harry Johnson for the Nelson's being a feature. He allowed only three scattered hits and walked but one man. The fielding was very spectacular, especially the work of Kingston and Wall at shortstop and Arndt in the field field being especially noticeable.

New Advance Made in Coastal Crude Oils

HOUSTON, Texas, Jan. 28.—With the posting Saturday of an advance of 15 cents a barrel, coastal crude oil has advanced 67 per cent during the past month. The 15-cent advance was announced here Saturday by the Texas company, Gulf Pipe Line and the Humble company.

The new prices: Grade "A," $1.65, and grade "B," $1.40. The Texas company does not post grade "B" prices.

Donie Bush, former Tiger shortstopper star who will manage the Indianapolis A. A. team next season, began his baseball career in the Indiana city as a sandlot star.

While the major sports are occupying the night, in order to encourage competition among the tennis players not of varsity calibre, a novice meet will be held all this week. Prizes have been donated for the winner. Stanford has been handicapped by a lack of suitable material on the courts and it is hoped that this meet may develop some youthful stars.

St. Louis Cardinals, the mite manager of the New York Yankees, has been named as the latest style in world's champions, has at last come into his own.

The Miller was one of the smallest ball players to get into fast company. He was a crack second baseman and lead-off man; in fact, one of the very best. After he slowed up he was appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. He coached Hornsby on batting and improved the second-sacker's playing all around.

In 1913 Ban Johnson had Huggins transferred to the American league and put in charge of the Yankees. Huggins has a very odd personality and a number of people took a dislike to him and discredited him with any managing ability. There was quite a bit of dissension in the Yankee fold, and when the team just managed to win the pennant by a single game in 1921, they went after Huggins with a vengeance.

Last spring Rupprecht, the owner, called the men together and told them that Huggins was his representative, and that if he wished to trade the whole team he could do so. This remark pulled the boys closer, and last season they played the league off its feet, so as to speak.

Huggins proved to his doubters every day that he was a crack second baseman and lead-off man; in fact, one of the very best. After he slowed up he was appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. He coached Hornsby on batting and improved the second-sacker's playing all around.

After battling two innings in a downpour before a large crowd of fans, considering the weather, the White Sox and Jack Burns' San Pedro club called it a day yesterday and the game was called an account rain.

Glendale was leading at the time, 1 to 0. Doran had scored in the first inning on an infield error and two sacrifices. Neither Shadler for the visitors nor Arnold Crandall for the Sox had allowed a hit. The local twirler had been very busy, having four assists and one put-out on the six men who had faced him.

Recent deals of the big league baseball clubs indicate that there is a general movement on foot to revamp all the teams and eliminate the veterans who have passed their best days but who have been kept for a season or so during the revamping of the clubs.

Carl Mays was one of the veterans slated to go. There was no thought that another major league club would claim him when the Yanks asked waivers on him. The Yanks also figured that Elmer Smith could not be used in trade deals with other major outfits when they let him drift to the minors.

"Comes word in this connection," from Chicago, that Frank Chance has asked for waivers on thirty of his players—many of them old-timers whom he believed could not help him his plans to rebuild the team.

The Giants, early last fall, announced that they would dispose of every old-timer on the team. They did let Dave Bancroft go to manage the Braves. Casey Stengel went with him, as a drawing card more than a probable regular on the Brave squad.

The Red Sox bosses are weeding out their driftwood. Ty Cobb is more than willing to set Bobby Veach and one or two others adrift.

The club owners seem to realize that the demand now is for new blood—for youngsters who are up and coming. The work of Frankie Frisch, the young Giant infielder, in the 1923 campaign and world's series has shown them what a drawing card a youngster can be if he delivers. Frisch stands out as the most brilliant performer in the old circuit—with no exceptions.

The return of the draft relations of the big leagues and much to do with this movement. While the majors were forced to bid in the open market for all material in these leagues—the principal feeding grounds—it was hard to obtain new material which was ready for regular big league work.

The old-timers were kept as coaches to these youngsters and second defense men—to replace the basketball team.

Pick Basketball Talent
With the basketball season well under way, Coach Harry Wolter, of the baseball squad, is rounding his list of budding diamond stars in a hope of turning the tables on the Bears this year and avenging the defeats suffered by Stanford for some time past.

Fifty men have signed their intention to try out for the team, among them being six twirlers, Teague, Lowenstein, Solomon, Oviatt, Ditzler and Ernie Nevers. The three first named were regulars last year and the latter three played with the frosh. Jim Lawson and Chuck Johnson will probably do the receiving. As a nucleus for his hitting strength Wolter has McCandless, Lawson, Patterson, Roberts and Cuddeback.

S.B. SQUAD WINS OVER OCCIDENTAL

Varsity, Freshmen Teams Trim Tiger Tossers By Wide Margin

Occidental proved easy prey for the Southern branch basketball teams last Saturday night in the Cub gym, the S. B. U. C. varsity and frosh teams both emerging victorious in their respective conflicts with representative fives from the Tiger college, the Cubs winning a 40-9 victory and the Cublets scoring a 37-21 decision.

In the preliminary game the Tiger Babes took the lead and kept ahead throughout the first half and came back in the second period with a ten-point lead which was soon increased to fifteen points. Then the Cub frosh began to fly and the Branch youngsters swooped down the floor for basket after basket, finishing ten markers to the good and almost giving the ghost. Daugherty, S. B. U. C. frosh forward, took shots from all parts of the floor and had a lucky streak that won the game. He put them in without even looking at the basket.

The varsity game proved a disastrous defeat for the Tigers. They went in expecting to lose to the conference leaders, but little believed that they would get swamped. The score was even worse than that of last year, when Cy Gibbs and Eayton added strength to the Cubs. Last season the Branch tripled the Oxy score and this year they made four and a half times as many points. Nevertheless the Orange and Black made their own fight for every basket, and would not give up. They were up against odds, and fought gamely to the last whistle.

In the first half the S. B. U. C. quintet accounted for twenty-eight points, while Oxy had a lone point, scored on a foul. The Tigers took the floor in the last half determined to hold their own, and played brilliant basketball, making eight points to twelve in the second period. Luck was with the Branch most of the night. Goertz, Brice and Johns featured for the Blue and Gold. Johnson and Wagner starred for the losers.

Varsity line-up: (17)—Johns (8), F.; Breese (4); Goertz (15), C.; Pierce, G.; Parker, G.; Oxy (9)—Wager (3), F.; Stoller, F.; Johnson (3), C.; Wheeler, G.; Ebers (1), G.

Substitutes: Cubs—McCauley, Vargas, Milstine, Abramson, Oxy—Morrow, McInnis, Sackett (1), Chandler (2), Hazeltine, Bennetts.

Score at half 28 to 1; final score, 40 to 9.

Referee—Foley.

Battling Siki may not be piling up a fortune or much of a rep on his tour of the U. S., but he sure is seeing some of this fair land of ours. Maybe he believes in seeing America first and fighting afterward.

This is a tough world for us writers. Bill Tilden's under fire because he used his tennis fame to make a little dough selling stories—and a criticism of Mr. Hackett. And a lady author in the east is in a heap of trouble because she tried to put her ideas of the "indalienable right to love into effect and the wife of the party of the second part got peeved.

Now comes the info from Boston town that Bill Cunningham, former Giant outfielder, may take Stuffy McInnis' place at first base in the Brave infield next season. McInnis is slated to retire to accept a berth as coach at Yale.

Cunningham was a second baseman when the Giants got him and McGraw gave him plenty of practice in the infield, although Bill was called on to play the outfield whenever he got a chance in a real game.

Ed Ruelbach, when with the Chicago Cubs, pitched a doubleheader against the Dodgers and shut them out both times.

LIFE'S MINOR COLLISIONS

Last year in the gaining series I got many reports from the T. T. T.'s that this article on "Life's Minor Collisions," was helpful. So here it is again for you who are trying to gain this year.

Life's minor collisions—what a series of pictures that brings up! There are none who escape them. Happily, the most of us give them only the attention they merit and soon forget them. Today I am going to apply my text to the underweight persons who have appealed to me to help them to gain. It has been my observation that they react too profoundly to these collisions and, in so doing use up very much of their energy which they should be keeping for more worthwhile purposes.

Mental emotions of a painful nature, even though minor, are not conducive to good circulation, good respiration or good digestion. Good assimilation waits on good digestion, good respiration or good digestion, and the gaining of weight waits on both.

This is not a contradiction of what I said before when I told you to eat whether you wanted to or not; for I told you then that undoubtedly your digestion would be improved if you enjoyed your food, but that your food would digest anyway, the larger part of it. I repeat that emphatically now. If you wait for a good appetite you will continue to be thin, for it will never come unless you go after it.

New, back to collisions. I shall switch now and call them trivial annoyances, for I want to use Elbert Hubbard's quotation about them. I love it. For years I had it pinned on my mirror—where I could see it frequently—until it became yellow with age and frequent dustings, and when it was lost I felt as though I had lost a personal friend. It is this:

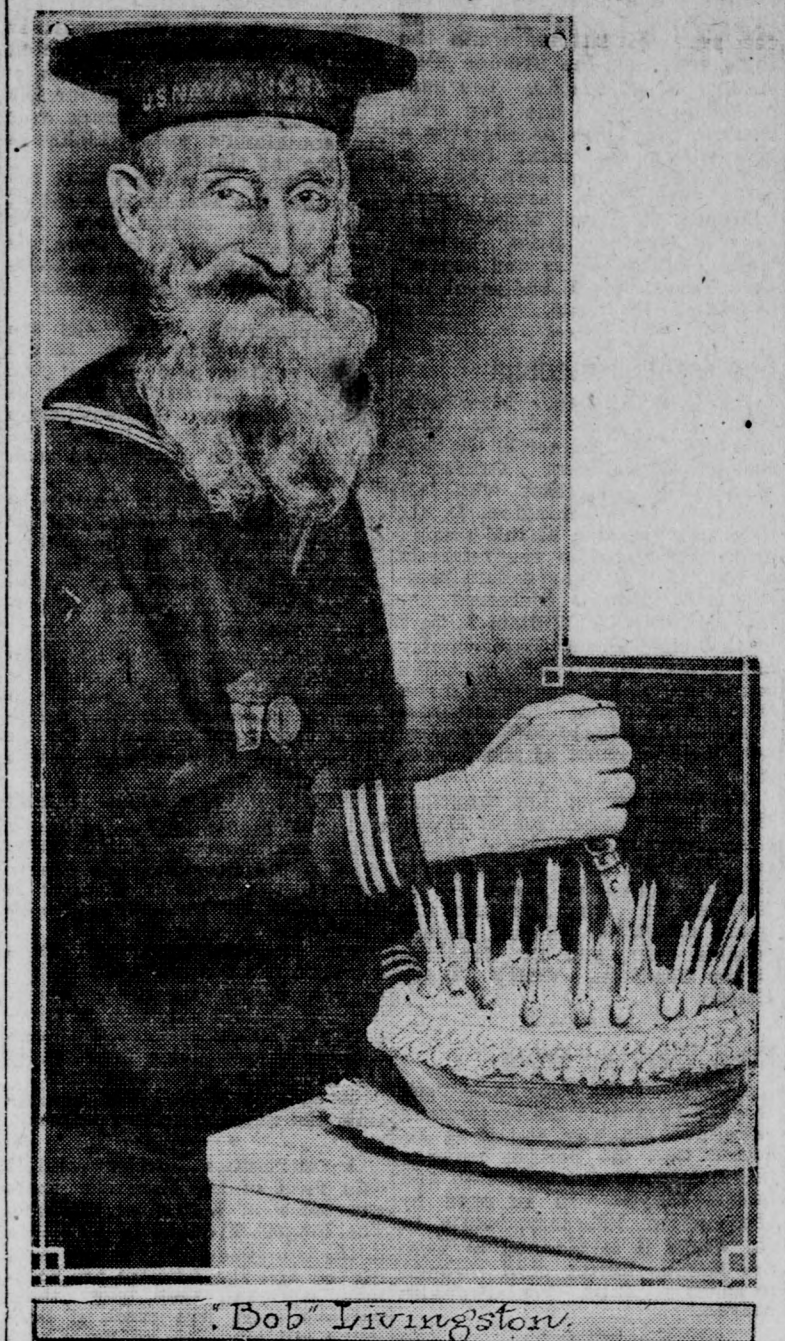

"You had better learn to accept the trivial annoyances and small misfits of life as a matter of course. To give them attention beyond their deserts is to wear the web of your life to the warp."

Notice that Hubbard did not say you should not give the trivial annoyances any attention. To give them attention beyond their deserts is the offense.

We can be helped if we will remember that perhaps every day something may happen that we do not like, and that everyone has

Old Salt Figured In Many Historic Events

"Bob" Livingston.

By JACK CARBERRY
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The saltiest "salt" who ever sailed the Seven Seas is Robert Ludlow Livingston.

"Ol' Bob" is 99. He's the son of Lady Alice Lascelle Ludlow of Nancy, France, and Robert L. Livingston, former chancellor of New York state, the man who negotiated the Louisiana purchase. Such is the story of "Ol' Bob," told in his Bowery room here. It is by way of preface.

"Ol' Bob's" story, as he tells it, is history itself. He served in the Mexican interior war of 1847. And many's the tale of romance and adventure he loves to spin.

Then there was the Japanese-Korean war of '53—and the Mexican border war of '56. The Civil, Indian and Spanish wars came later.

"An' ding-bust 'em, I wanted to join up in the World war, but the ding-bust (etc., etc.) wouldn't let me. 'Ol' Bob' explains in true sailor language.

Helped Open Japan

However, it is of the arrival of Commodore Perry in Japan, when the trade gates of the Orient were opened to the world, that "Ol' Bob" tells his most interesting story.

"By crickety-crack, Matthew Galbraith Perry—that was the commodore, you know—was about the concernedest, finest diplomat I ever knew in any branch of the government service."

"Ol' Bob" told how Commodore Perry visited the Mikado's palace at Tokio.

"We had to use a lot of hokum—like that that over there in the East," he said.

"Perry took two strapping negro firemen from the boiler room of his ship. He put sandals on the pair and gave them great flavor with one-half teaspoon of vanilla and serve hot on the cold blanc mange."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a person or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with a question. ## BEAUTY CHATS

OATMEAL PASTE

After you have given the skin a thorough steaming followed by a cream massage, an excellent way of finishing the refreshing treatment is to use an oatmeal paste. This is cooling, cleansing, astringent and bleaching.

You will probably be able to purchase the coarsely ground oatmeal powder. If not, take the ordinary oatmeal you buy for breakfast and put it several times through a meat grinder with the finest blade on. This will give you a very coarse powder, but one that will do. You do not wish anything as fine as the powdered oatmeal used for the blackhead treatment. The meal can be perfumed or not, as you wish. If perfume is used a little sachet powder mixed in is the best. To make the paste you simply mix one or two tablespoonfuls of the powder with enough cold water to give the consistency of thick cream. This is spread thickly over the face and allowed to stay on five minutes or so.

This oatmeal paste is particularly beneficial if you have an unusually oily skin. The only rubbing with a cleansing and nourishing cold cream massage is that it feeds oil into a skin already too full of it. Yet it is the super-oily skin that is more apt to have blackheads and coarse pores, therefore is most in need of frequent cold cream treatments. The oatmeal paste is just the proper finish. It absorbs all the cream from or near the surface of the skin, tightens the coarse pores, absorbs a little of the waxy substance that forms the blackhead and some of the oiliness of the skin.

Follow the usual facial massage method, steaming and a thorough rubbing with a fairly heavy cold cream, removing the cream with a cloth wrung from hot water. Then apply the oatmeal paste, let it stay on five minutes, wash off with cold water, and powder.

Worried? You can bleach the hair by using peroxide, which will not leave any bad effects. Any other method of destroying hair, result in an unhealthy condition. The best is too sensitive to have depilatories used on it;

This cools and clears the skin.

"TRUE LOVE"

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There have been letters in your column which no doubt seemed as interesting to many others as to myself. I would like to have you print this article for the sake of some of your readers, especially the "fairer sex" whose ideas seem to differ from your so-called "narrow code of ethics."

I am a young bachelor of this city and have a large circle of friends of the higher type, and through all of my past experiences, in this city and others as well, I know that the friendship of the higher type of young woman can not be acquired through this so-called "love-making."

Personally I do not see how any broad-minded young man could consider such a relationship as true friendship, especially from one who is so liberal with her caresses.

Experience teaches us that true love is derived from a true friendship which is created through higher ideals.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Thank you for your letter. I am glad to let some girls who have begun to doubt their high ideals that there are still men left to appreciate them.

HOLD ON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man twenty-six years old. After going with quite a number of girls since I was twenty-one, I have met one that I like real well and I am going with her now.

She is just the girl I have always wanted, but she is very independent and seldom gives me a chance to be attentive to her. She seems to want my company, but says that she does not want her girl friends to think that she might get serious and tells me not to see her often.

I agree to not seeing her often, but I am not going to give her up until she gives in or "runs me away."

Do you think that I should hold on to her? Or do you think that she is playing with me?

HOLD ON OR LET LOOSE.

Probably you care so much for

Arbuckle Divorce Suit to Go Before Jury

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 28.—Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter has announced he would present the facts in the divorce suit of Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle, wife of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, to the grand jury which will investigate the Nina Wilcox Putnam-Sanderson case and the suit of Mrs. Fay Mantelle Eisenberg of New York.

Judge Chester W. Barrows announced Mrs. Arbuckle had withdrawn her suit for divorce which vacated the decree previously granted. After conferring with Judge Barrows, the attorney general announced his decision to probe the Arbuckle case regardless of the withdrawal of the suit.

Mrs. Eisenberg withdrew her suit when the divorce decree granted Mrs. Sanderson was vacated. In each of the actions the plaintiffs have failed to satisfy the court regarding the grounds for asking a divorce.

EAGLE ROCK BRICK, CONCRETE BUILDING RISING

$100,000 Structure to Contain Stores, Apartments, in Finest Location

A $100,000 building, said to be the finest ever erected in Eagle Rock, is rising at 2730 Colorado boulevard, opposite "Sunshine Corner," according to H. L. Devo, Eagle Rock real estate broker.

The structure is a two-story and basement brick and concrete, the foundation being of such construction that additional stories may be added at a later time, if development warrants. The fact that an entire load of cement has been used in the basement alone will bear this out, states G. Riddell, owner of the 100-foot frontage on which the building is being reared.

A feature of the plan being followed is a driveway under the first floor, giving access to the rear of the lot, which is 400 feet deep and will probably be improved with a bunlow court. One-half of the first floor has been leased to the Sam Seelig company, Mr. Riddell reports. The second floor will be fitted up with twelve single and double apartments, while the balance of the space will be arranged for small shops and offices.

"Westward the flag of empire takes its way," may certainly be applied to Colorado boulevard, and Mr. Riddell is being congratulated by residents of Eagle Rock on his vision, in establishing near the Glendale boundary line a new standard of values and anchoring "Sunshine Corner" as a new business district.

Another $100,000 Deal
The R. McLean building, now nearing completion at the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Maywood avenue, represents another $100,000 investment and does much to stabilize values. When completed it will house one of the leading car agencies and will have its remaining space devoted to stores. Another corner that has just been improved with a brick building is the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Casper avenue, the cost in this instance being $40,000. Edward Turner of Glendale and Frank Sterling of Hollywood are the owners. This building too houses a leading car agency.

The Security Trust & Savings bank branch at the northeast corner of Colorado and Eagle Rock boulevards, at an approximate cost of $100,000, adds further to the community's rapidly growing skyline, and many new apartment houses, bungalow courts and duplexes are seen to be rising within a few blocks to the four points of the compass, from the "Flagpole Corner."

While over on the far east end of town, the "Moonshine Corner" has become a beehive of activity, with a large service station as the nucleus for the development. Like all other moonshine, the variety being distilled by these enterprising individuals at work here will bear watching, residents believe.

"First thing you know," they say, "Eagle Rock will have a genuine 'Far East'."

Scene of Saviour's Death Arouse Emotions

Trees and brush grow thickly along its steep banks so it can not be seen till you are right at it, but they make it very picturesque.

"We had a brush covered eating place with tables and benches, right on the banks above the river. We had brought our lunch, secured good coffee, after which, with an Arab oarsman, who stood up to row, we had a trip in a flat-bottom boat up the river.

Quite a distance, to the place where tradition places the baptism of Christ. The sun was getting hot and it was hard work pulling against the current, but it was a wonderful experience for us."

"On our way to Jericho we got stuck in the red mud. With the aid of all the drivers and passengers of three following cars, we finally got out amidst much jabbering and shouting, all of us covered with mud. Camel was washed off the brush in the valley and a flock of black goats were passed. We reached the site of ancient Jericho at Elisha's fountain."

"You remember the Bible story of how Elisha changed his bitter waters into sweet by throwing salt into it. It is a very large spring and flows sufficient water to fill two large reservoirs and irrigates the valley below for a mile or two to the modern city of Jericho."

Variety of Fruits
"The fertile soil, frostless climate and water combine to grow fine oranges, bananas, dates, figs, loquats and gardens, so this is a lovely little oasis."

"The old city rises out of the plain, its ruins of adobe houses being the top of the series, of the same kind which have crumbled and been built upon. We pictured Joshua's army marching around its walls. To the north is the 'Mount of Temptation,' which is said to be the one of which Christ was tempted by Satan."

"The sun was hot as we drove through modern Jericho, another city of adobe, but containing a three-story hotel. As we climbed the hills returning to the holy city this afternoon of the sun was so beautiful that the wife described it as 'Heavenly.' We all agreed

Ideal Tourist Weather
Ten Million Dollar Rain
Pictures and Students
Poor Little Playthings

By Gil A. Cowan

No more beautiful weather could be desired than the passing winter months in Southern California. It has been ideal for the tourist who wished to motor over the southland's paved highways and see the sights.

Sometimes we are prone to believe that the average resident of this favored section does not know what there is in store for those who have the time to come and go according to the dictates of pleasure.

Comparatively few folks are members in country clubs. So the joy of golfing, polo playing and the like is restricted. Many in Glendale, however, take advantage of the Griffith Park links, the Oakmont saddle stables and such nearby attractions.

Two hours away is the trip to Mt. Lowe and Mt. Wilson, one for the hiker and one for the motorist. One hardly realizes that in less than 120 minutes they can be sitting in the Mt. Wilson or Alpine Tavern hotels.

Catalina, that wonder isle, also is a day's enjoyment in store for all residents, while it is possible to leave Glendale on Saturday afternoon, sail south to San Diego on a coastwise steamer and return the next day.

Train trips to various inland and coast points, as well as motor trips, are most enjoyable while even riding around the countryside on the Pacific Electric is good sport for one who likes to see things.

For comparatively small sums a person can see the great harbor at San Pedro, the Long Beach oilfields, take a yacht trip to Newport and its yacht harbor, if one desires, and be home in Glendale the same day.

Monday is a good day to consider the week's pleasure program. A ten million dollar rainfall over most of the state last week came at a critical moment. The longest drought in 40 years in the San Joaquin valley has been broken and the farmers are smiling, although they fear their parched faces will crack if they laugh out loud. A lot more rain is needed.

A heavy snowfall in the mountains will be necessary to provide sufficient irrigation water and until that is assured plans for pumping water for this year's needs must be made by the central California agriculturalists.

The cattlemen and sheepraisers, however, are insured a green range by the intermittent rains of the last few days.

And we may expect more, for when it does rain, it pours, after a dry season.

Do you study the dictionary? Most likely not. Few of us do. Fact remains, we like to tell others what we know—and sometimes make a mistake in so doing.

The writer knows something about spelling and syllabic division, but when it comes to pronunciation we have a lot to learn. So have other people, we find.

If you do not know it, as a few friends to pronounce two words such as callosio and gladiolous. Then look 'em up in the dictionary.

It is good mental exercise. History students will do well to see "Little Old New York" at the Gateway theatre today. It will give them a mind's picture as to periods in the development of these United States of ours.

Occasionally there are films, rare treasures one might say, which combine history and romance in such a way as to leave a lasting impression. Effort along these lines should be accorded the support of picture fans.

If the public would register its approval, or disapproval, of the picture makers' program a little more definitely there is no doubt but what they would improve materially the product of the studios.

There will be 163 pupils graduate from the two intermediate schools in Glendale this week. They will all be enrolled in the junior high school for a year and then matriculate to the larger high school, which has recently been built.

The product of the Glendale grammar schools has always been good. If anything they are too apt, get into high school too early, but we must remember this is an age of speed.

The children who are going into high school must appreciate it is a new realm, different type of schooling than that of the grammar grades. It is not the same at all. Fortunately, the line of demarcation between grade and high schools is very plain here.

Tragic days for many of America's film queens are at hand. Edna Purviance and Mabel Normand are busy explaining a party in a rich man's apartment. Or maybe it wasn't a party. Lila Lee is being made the target of an investigation in which it is alleged she backed her father in the bootlegging business. Mildred Harris no sooner had her name withdrawn as a member of the party that engaged Charles Chaplin in a fight in a Hollywood cafe than she receives word her father was beaten to death by a Chicago taxi cab driver.

Poor little playthings of the make-believe world. Actually, they are to be pitied, rather than censured. Their life's history is hectic, to say the least.

"Combining modern drama, phantasy and magnificent studies of wild life and aquatic growth, the picture is probably the most artistic achievement of its kind ever developed. Beauty was the theme not only in the settings, but with the thousands of girls used in the allegorical scene."

MEET CALLED OFF

The Inter-Class track meet at Occidental College scheduled for last Saturday afternoon was called off at the last minute because the students were too busy cramming for final exams to take part in the meet. However, the exams are over Wednesday and the meet will probably be held next Saturday afternoon.

HELD ON SUSPICION

Lieutenant Nunn and Officer McLean brought in Frederick Fahey, shortly after midnight Sunday, and he is held at police headquarters for investigation. He was picked up on Wilson avenue between Brand and Orange, and when questioned gave his address as Portland, Oregon.

Banana Song Boasts of Classic Ancestry

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—Several months ago the song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," aroused great interest. It soon swept over two continents. Millions of copies were sold. The composers of the great hit were hailed as wonders.

Then came the question, "Where did that popular song come from?"

It took Miss Jean Sargent, secretary to Major J. J. Fanning, who is in charge of the radio broadcasting at the WNAC station, to find the answer. She found that several sections of "Yes, We Have No Bananas" were lifted bodily from Handel's "Messiah" and "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," from Balfe's famous opera, "The Bohemian Girl."
